Milk-Hungry New York Is Buying Supplies Here

Local Markets Say Transients Purchase Anything From Quart to Case of Product

Ulster county grocers are reporting an upsurge in the demand for milk as truck drivers, business men and others from milk-hungry New York stop off to buy anything from a quart to a case of milk before going home.

Milk deliveries in the New York metropolitan area were cut off at 4 p. m. Sunday by a strike of 13,000 milk delivery truck drivers and pasteurization plant workers. The last of the milk available to those who called for it at company distribution plants in New York was exhausted by Tuesday.

Local stores, particularly those located along direct routes to New York like Jump's Market in Port Ewen and Bruchholz Market at 9 Wurts street, reported today an increasing number of calls for milk made by metropolitan residents passing through on their way home.

Truck drivers whose routes pass through Kingston, men whose business requires them to travel upstate, and persons with summer homes or relatives in the area comprised the majority of the out-of-town customers, the reports indicated.

Reguests by Family Men

Most of the requests for milk were apparently made by sincere family men needing several quarts for their own children and perhaps for their neighbors.

There were, however, several reports of enterprising persons attempting to collect enough milk to provide their business associates or neighbors.

One person who is a permanent resident in Ulster county and who commutes to work in New York reportedly picked up 4 quarts yesterday for others in his office.

Has Own Route

Another man, admitting he had started his own milk route, canvassed several area grocers in an attempt to pick up a case here and a case there to take back to the metropolitan area.

Several persons who own summer homes here stopped in local stores this morning, purchasing several quarts of milk. Apparently they had come here after work yesterday and remained overnight at their summer home, leaving early this morning to return to work.

Local men who make regular weekly business trips to New York reported they have received numerous requests from their New York contacts to bring milk with them.

Local distributors, however, are of the opinion that the new customers will not make a great difference in total milk sales locally, as Kingston was already consuming all the milk the regular sources could provide.

It was pointed out that the recent drouth has resulted in lower milk production and there has not been a surplus of milk locally this season.

Inquiries Received

Local distributors have received inquiries from New York as to the possibility of placing orders—some as high as 20 cases—but it was reported that these have been turned down by distributors partly because of the fact that they can sell their normal production through regular local channels and partly from a reluctance to become involved in what one of them termed a "bootleg" situation.

Meanwhile, the plants that collect milk from Ulster county farmers for shipment into New York were still feeling the pinch caused by the shutting down of the metropolitan market. No change was reported this morning at Shawangunk Dairies at Kyserike, which ordinarily ships about 80 per cent of its 30 to 40,000 quart daily volume to the city.

End Seems Near In Milk Walkout

Blanford Says Top Points Resolved; Nature Is Not Revealed

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—An end to the four-day-old milk strike in the New York Metropolitan area seemed imminent today when a mediator announced the "most troublesome issues" in the wage-hour dispute had been resolved.

C. J. Blanford, Federal milk marketing administrator, brought that report out of a negotiation session. Later Daniel Kornblum, City Labor Relations director, reported the opposing sides were "darn close together."

The nature of the issues resolved was not disclosed.

The strike has cut off fresh milk from about 12 million persons in the New York city area and northern New Jersey. Hospitals and schools have been supplied throughout the walkout.

Thirteen thousand AFL teamsters struck 200 milk plants last Sunday over a union demand for a $15 weekly wage raise and a 35-hour work week. Current wages range from $82 to $125 for a 40-hour week. The companies have offered boosts up to $2.10 a week.

Reports of progress toward settlement of the dispute were made yesterday but hopes faded later in the day and union and company negotiators, aided by Federal mediators, went into continuous session starting last night.

The strike has resulted in an estimated $250,000 loss daily to some 50,000 dairy farmers who supply the New York Metropolitan area. The farmers, to avoid spoilage of fresh milk, were forced to divert their product to less profitable cheese and other milk by-products.

Retail stores and restaurants in the affected areas were sold out the day after the strike started.

Milk depots, despite rationing, ran out of supplies by Tuesday.

Damages Are Asked

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—Mario Santamaria, 14-year-old high school student, today asked $50,000 damages from actress Denise Darcel. He accused her of trying to wreck his stage career. The suit was filed in State Supreme Court in Brooklyn. It alleged that Miss Darcel spoke disparagingly of young Mario's acting talent to producer Guy Palmerton and that Mario's subsequent summer stock bookings were canceled.

Says Man Confesses

Guilford, Conn., Oct. 29 (AP)—A 21-year-old suspect has confessed, police said today, that he killed a New Haven merchant in a lakeside cottage. State Police Commissioner John C. Kelly announced in Hartford that Fred Gaul of Hamden made a statement that he killed Albert DeFalco, 31, here Monday night, but as yet had given no motive. DeFalco was shot through the body and beaten on the head.

Dewey May Ask Horse Racing Be Made Into Utility

World-Telegram Reporter Says Governor Has Reached Two Conclusions

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—The New York World-Telegram and Sun said today Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is considering proposing that the horse racing industry be made a public utility in New York state.

"In the case of public utilities, the state limits profits to 6 per cent of invested capital," reported Charles Lucey, Scripps-Howard staff writer in a story from Washington.

"The governor is said to be convinced that drastic changes must come after recent disclosures that the huge profits which go with successful harness racing tracks often attract gangsters and racketeers."

Asked whether the plan was being considered, Harry O'Donnell, Dewey's press aide, replied the governor had "no comment at this time."

Two Conclusions Cited

The newspaper said Dewey has reached "two firm conclusions" concerning harness racing:

"First, steps must be taken to pare the size of the cut taken by the tracks.

"Second, New York must have

Bishop Is Jailed And Then Released

Murphy, N. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—Bishop Homer Tomlinson of the Church of God was arrested yesterday while swinging an eight-pound sledgehammer at five-foot concrete letters spelling out the Ten Commandments on a mountain near here.

The bishop, 61, jailed for an hour and then released pending trial, left town immediately "to fast for seven days." He didn't say where he was going.

The Shrine—on Burger Mountain and visible for miles—belongs to another faction of the church, the Church of God Prophecy. It is headed by the bishop's brother, the Rev. Milton Tomlinson of Cleveland, Tenn. Their father, A. J. Tomlinson, said he saw a vision on the mountain which led to the start of the Church of God in 1903.

Report Is They May End Insistence Upon Seating of Neutrals

Panmunjom, Oct. 29 (AP)—The promise of a surprising announcement tomorrow touched off reports here today that balky anti-Communist Korean prisoners have agreed to abandon their stubborn refusal to attend interviews with Red explainers.

Communist demands that the Koreans be forced to attend—at gunpoint if necessary—have all but wrecked the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the deadlocked commission, touched off the speculation wtih a cryptic statement that he would have a "surprising" announcement Friday.

Neither Thimayya nor other Indian officers would amplify Thimayya's remarks.

But a reliable source said the announcement would concern the reluctant 7,800 North Korean prisoners.

Would Be Victory

Their agreement to attend Red efforts to persuade them to return to their Red-dominated homelands would be a major victory for Thimayya. The Indian general has fought to prevent a blowup of the NNRC while striving to convince North Korean POW leaders they should attend Red persuasion sessions.

Throughout the 10 days the explanations have been stalled Thimayya has clung to the thin hope that he could coax the POW leaders to accept his plan, get the stalled explanation going and break the deadlock that has made the NNRC impotent.

Both Thimayya and members of his staff appeared to have more hope and confidence Thursday than they have in the past week.

A surprising announcement could, of course, take several other forms.

Could Drop Demand

The Communist Polish and Czech members of the deadlocked NNRC could drop their demand that Indian troops be ordered to use whatever force necessary to make the North Koreans attend explanations.

The Swiss and Swedish members could drop their so-far solid opposition to using force.

The Indian chairman, Thimayya, who has consistently taken the position that force cannot be used on the North Koreans unless it is unanimously okayed by the entire commission, could change his mind, agree with the Polish and Czech delegations, and on a three to two vote declare that force would be used.

Any one of these could happen.

Eisenhower, Dulles Try to Show Malenkov Talk No Assurance

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles seem to be trying, slowly and painstakingly, to rid the free world of the idea that a top level talk with Soviet Premier Malenkov might bring world peace.

As is obvious from repeated public statements, they regard the idea as a vain and dangerous illusion.

Eisenhower, at his news conference yesterday, sought to deflate the value of personal diplomacy—a value which has tended to grow in recent months, in part because of the repeated proposals of British Prime Minister Churchill for an East-West talk between chiefs of government.

Eisenhower has been asked questions about the possibility of such a meeting with greater frequency perhaps than questions on any other subject. Dulles, similarly pressed for his views, has also had the problem as a diplomat of trying to dissuade Churchill from pressing the matter to a conclusion.

Together, Eisenhower and Dulles have had constantly to reckon with public opinion and the intense hope for a miracle of peace which creates political pressures, especially in England and western Europe.

In the past the President has been inclined to take the positive line that he would be glad to meet anybody halfway around the world if he thought that would do any good for peace. Dulles tended to press a somewhat more negative argument, saying the United States was always ready for negotiation but was not interested in talks without evidence of Communist goodwill.

Eisenhower, asked again yesterday for his views about the possibility of Big Four meeting at the highest level, replied that if anything turned up to convince him that the Soviets would go into a meeting in good faith, then he would overcome any handicap or solve any problem to meet with them.

But then he went on to say bluntly it would be perfectly hopeless to have such a meeting until he knows there is an honest purpose behind Russian interest in it. Indicating he does not think such purpose exists today, he reminded reporters there had been many examples of meetings in the past being used primarily for propaganda.

Responding to an inquiry about whether he planned to meet with Churchill, who has spoken favorably of such a meeting, the President said he has a warm friendship and affection for Churchill but no plans to see him.

One implication running through the President's remarks was that he wishes wherever possible to delegate authority for diplomatic negotiation to Dulles, who is hanging up some kind of record for traveling around to see leaders of other governments.

Another clear implication was that the President would like people to understand his feeling about the limitations of diplomacy—that unless Russia really wants to work out settlements of critical issues, his talking with Malenkov would not provide any magic solution.

Three Agents Are Sentenced, Fined For Tax Frauds

Talanker, Witt, Inkeles Get 3-Year Terms; Their Fines Are $1,000, $2,000

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—Three former Troy, internal revenue agents, convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government by "fixing" income tax returns, were sentenced today to three years each in federal prison.

Two were fined $1,000 each and the third was fined $2,000.

The men, who had been employed in the Troy office, were Murray Talanker, 40 of 60 Oakwood street, Albany, a certified public accountant and former agent; Dave Witt, 36, of 164-38 Willetts Point Blvd., Whitestone; and Abraham Inkeles, 34, of 47-11 212th, Bayside, both of Queens.

Fourth Was Suicide

A fourth man, Maurice F. O'Brien, former head of the Troy office, committed suicide last Monday in Walden after his conviction.

Talanker was fined $2,000 because, in the words of Judge Edwin T. Gottesman, the sentencing judge, he "was a major moving factor in the conspiracy."

Before sentencing Assistant U. S. Attorney Davis S. Carton asked the court to impose on Talanker the maximum sentence of five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine and to impose three years imprisonment each and a $5,000 fine each on Inkeles and Witt.

Gottesman denied a defense motion for release of the three on bail pending an appeal. He ordered the trio turned over to the custody of the U. S. marshal.

Calls It Unreasonable

Sol Gelb, Talanker's attorney, called the government's recommendation "unreasonable and

Costello Is Released At Federal Prison

Detroit, Oct. 29 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello became a free man today after serving out a federal prison term for contempt of the U. S. government.

The 59-year-old New York rackets operator, convicted for defying Senate crime investigators, was freed from the federal correctional institution at Milan.

He left the prison 35 miles west of here at 8:06 a. m. (EST) upon completing approximately a year of an 18 months sentence.

But freedom for Costello may be limited. The government is trying to deport him to his native Sicily as an undesirable. It wants to take away his citizenship.

Four-Year Terms To Be Voted Nov. 3

Poll Will Decide Change in Time for Mayor and Aldermen

An important question to be decided at the election Tuesday is whether the terms of the mayor, alderman-at-large, and aldermen should be changed from two to four years.

It will appear on the ballot as Local Proposition No. A and entitled "A local law to amend Section 13, Title III of the Charter of the City of Kingston, New York, relating to the term of office of the mayor, alderman-at-large and aldermen."

The Common Council last Sept. 1 voted to place the question on the ballot.

Halloween Parade, Costume Party Planned for Children

Saturday evening, the Kingston Recreation Department will hold its annual parade and costume contest as a Halloween celebration. As in the past the parade will start at Academy Green at 7 o'clock.

A real treat is in store for all who attend the parade says Andrew J. Murphy, 3d, superintendent of the Recreation Department.

Costumed marchers will parade down Broadway behind the drum corps to the municipal auditorium where they will compete in the costume contest for some of the many fine prizes offered.

Following the marchers, carrying the younger children who are too small to march, will be the popular 40 and 8 locomotive manned by voyageurs from the American Legion Honor Society.

A police motorcycle escort will be in advance of the parade and a squad car will follow.

The drum corps will continue down Broadway to Delaware avenue where the marchers from downtown will be escorted back to the auditorium at about 7:40.

Assisting the Recreation Department at the auditorium and during the parade will be members of La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, also members of the Kingston Shriners Association.

It is estimated that the party will be over at 10 p. m. by Superintendent Murphy, who requests all to go straight home from the auditorium and not indulge in any pranks along the way that might put a mark against the youth of the city.

Eisenhower Favors GOP Candidates Including Troast

Press Secretary Elaborates on Discussion Which Took Place at Conference

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower favors the election of all candidates running for office on the Republican ticket—and that goes for Paul Troast, candidate for governor of New Jersey.

This came from Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, in elaboration on a discussion of politics at Eisenhower's news conference yesterday.

Hagerty said he has received numerous inquiries from newsmen as to whether Eisenhower was taking a slap yesterday at Troast or other party candidates.

Asked Whether Aware

The President was asked yesterday whether, at the time his picture was taken with Troast in New Jersey recently, he was aware that Troast had asked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York to parole New York labor racketeer Joey Fay from prison.

Eisenhower replied that at that time he had neaver heard of Fay, that he had gone to New Jersey to address a church group and had been asked to pose for pictures with another group.

This statement left unanswered the question of whether there would have been such a picture if Eisenhower had known about Fay or the letter.

Hagerty's elaboration today came in a warm exchange with Arthur Sylvester of The Newark Evening News.

No Point Blank Answers

Hagerty wouldn't say point blank whether Eisenhower now knows about Fay. But he declared: "You can understand English as well as I can. When the President said that at that time he didn't know, it is obvious he knew later."

There has been concern among some Republican candidates as to just where Eisenhower stood with regard to their campaigns since the President said on Oct. 21 that he wasn't going to use the presidency as an agency in partisan elections.

Eisenhower seemed to be trying to allay this concern when he told his news conference yesterday that of course he was interested in Republican control of Congress and indicated he might participate in the 1954 election campaign on a limited scale.

He gave the impression that he at least would make some speeches to lay the Republican record before the people, even if he doesn't campaign for individual candidates. At the same time, he didn't bar a friendly word or the taking of pictures with candidates here and there.

Speaks of Necessity

Hagerty said today the President was speaking of the necessity of electing Republican members of Congress on the record the administration has built.

"Just so there is no misunderstanding," the press secretary

Totals Are In Line With Early Story

Charts, Graphs, Photos Document Release —Total 'Probably' Is 29,815 Allies

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—The army has laid before the world a documented indictment of Communist atrocities in Korea—what it called "all the sickening details of horror" in which probably 6,113 Americans died a tortured death.

The statistics were not new. But it was the first time the army gave out grisly details of how captured American GIs were dragged on death marches, roasted alive, lined up and shot.

To document the bleak words of the report, compiled by the army's war crimes division and released last night, there were charts and graphs and photographs of bound, charred bodies.

The figures—of 29,815 "probable" deaths in atrocity cases, 6,113 were listed as Americans—were in line with earlier estimates.

After Col. James M. Hanley of a war crimes investigation unit issued a statement in November 1951, accusing the Reds of atrocities, the official estimate was the total would "approximate 6,000."

In New Report

But in the army's new report, what survivors had to say was grim reading—"one of the boys had no head; it seemed to have been mashed or beaten and was laying all over the road...the other GI had his eyes gouged out, and nothing remained where his eyes were except holes."

The charts and text indicated most of the atrocities occurred in the first year of the war, when the Communists invaded South Korea and overran American and Republic of Korea troops. There was a smaller upsurge of the graph line later when the Chinese entered the war and hurled allied forces southward from the region of the Yalu river.

To the Chinese were charged 27.3 per cent of the war crimes alleged. The North Korean Reds, who had only a fraction as many troops in the field as Communist China, were blamed as the greater barbarians.

'Interesting Fact'

The army said "it is an interesting fact that the North Korean Peoples Army slaughtered most civilians during September 1950. Of these, 14,602 or 84.6 per cent were slain in the last four days of the month."

That included the "Taejon massacre" where the Reds were said to have killed the occupants of the South Korean city in batches of hundreds at a time—among them 42 Americans.

What was not spelled out in the army's report was the reason for issuing the detailed account at this time. However, its issuance seemed related to a report to the United Nations three days ago by Dr. Charles Mayo, a UN delegate and famous American surgeon.

Dr. Mayo's report gave a scientific account of how the Reds compelled "confessions" from American war prisoners about germ warfare — a propaganda point often employed by the Communists.

Clues to Reasons

There were clues to the army's reason in a statement by Secretary Robert T. Stevens which accompanied the text.

He said releasing details of such "cold-blooded . . . torture and murder . . . is one of the best answers that can be given to anyone who questions the need for strong military defenses."

And he said also:

"It exposes the enemy for what he is. All of the sickening detail of horror and calculated brutality spells out the fact that we cannot relax our defense efforts while such threats to free peoples exist."

The army has had the affidavits, investigation findings and pictures in its possession since the early days of the Korean war. But policy makers had debated whether the ghastly details — especially the pictures—should be released because of the impact on parents, wives.

But a reliable source said the announcement would concern the reluctant 7,800 North Korean prisoners.

Would Be Victory

Their agreement to attend Red efforts to persuade them to return to their Red-dominated homelands would be a major victory for Thimayya. The Indian general has fought to prevent a blowup of the NNRC while striving to convince North Korean POW leaders they should attend Red persuasion sessions.

Throughout the 10 days the explanations have been stalled Thimayya has clung to the thin hope that he could coax the POW leaders to accept his plan, get the stalled explanation going and break the deadlock that has made the NNRC impotent.

Both Thimayya and members of his staff appeared to have more hope and confidence Thursday than they have in the past week.

A surprising announcement could, of course, take several other forms.

Could Drop Demand

The Communist Polish and Czech members of the deadlocked NNRC could drop their demand that Indian troops be ordered to use whatever force necessary to make the North Koreans attend explanations.

The Swiss and Swedish members could drop their so-far solid opposition to using force.

The Indian chairman, Thimayya, who has consistently taken the position that force cannot be used on the North Koreans unless it is unanimously okayed by the entire commission, could change his mind, agree with the Polish and Czech delegations, and on a three to two vote declare that force would be used.

Any one of these could happen.

Eisenhower, Dulles Try to Show Malenkov Talk No Assurance

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles seem to be trying, slowly and painstakingly, to rid the free world of the idea that a top level talk with Soviet Premier Malenkov might bring world peace.

As is obvious from repeated public statements, they regard the idea as a vain and dangerous illusion.

Eisenhower, at his news conference yesterday, sought to deflate the value of personal diplomacy—a value which has tended to grow in recent months, in part because of the repeated proposals of British Prime Minister Churchill for an East-West talk between chiefs of government.

Eisenhower has been asked questions about the possibility of such a meeting with greater frequency perhaps than questions on any other subject. Dulles, similarly pressed for his views, has also had the problem as a diplomat of trying to dissuade Churchill from pressing the matter to a conclusion.

Together, Eisenhower and Dulles have had constantly to reckon with public opinion and the intense hope for a miracle of peace which creates political pressures, especially in England and western Europe.

In the past the President has been inclined to take the positive line that he would be glad to meet anybody halfway around the world if he thought that would do any good for peace. Dulles tended to press a somewhat more negative argument, saying the United States was always ready for negotiation but was not interested in talks without evidence of Communist goodwill.

Eisenhower, asked again yesterday for his views about the possibility of Big Four meeting at the highest level, replied that if anything turned up to convince him that the Soviets would go into a meeting in good faith, then he would overcome any handicap or solve any problem to meet with them.

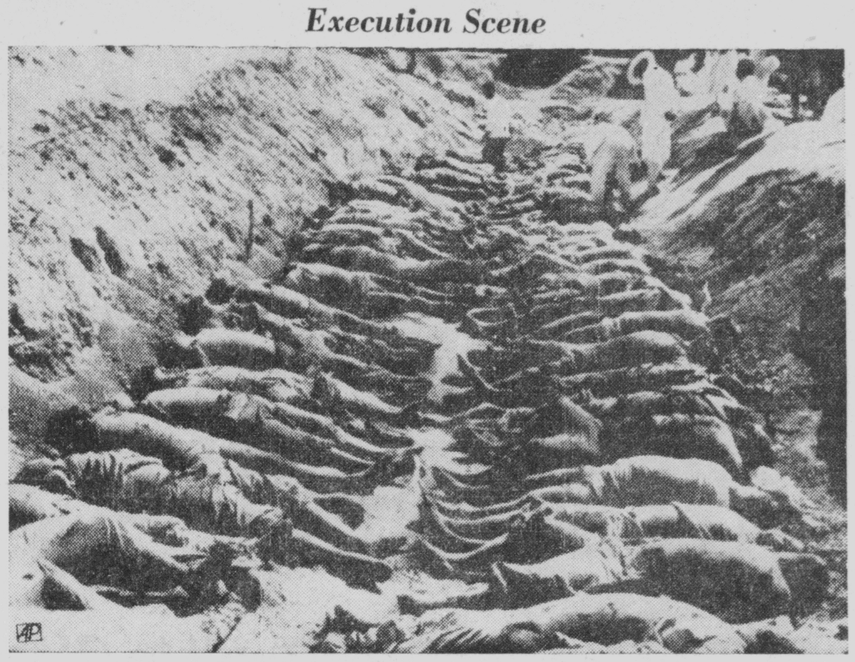
But then he went on to say bluntly it would be perfectly hopeless to have such a meeting until he knows there is an honest purpose behind Russian interest in it. Indicating he does not think such purpose exists today, he reminded reporters there had been many examples of meetings in the past being used primarily for propaganda.

Responding to an inquiry about whether he planned to meet with Churchill, who has spoken favorably of such a meeting, the President said he has a warm friendship and affection for Churchill but no plans to see him.

One implication running through the President's remarks was that he wishes wherever possible to delegate authority for diplomatic negotiation to Dulles, who is hanging up some kind of record for traveling around to see leaders of other governments.

Another clear implication was that the President would like people to understand his feeling about the limitations of diplomacy—that unless Russia really wants to work out settlements of critical issues, his talking with Malenkov would not provide any magic solution.

Execution Scene



The Army released this photo in Washington, Oct. 28, saying it shows bodies of victims of the Taejon massacre in Korea. The Army pointed out that many of the Taejon execution trenches were merely open ditches excavated by bulldozers. This photo was released in connection with a new report on Communists' atrocities. Three Agents Are Sentenced, Fined For Tax Frauds

Talanker, Witt, Inkeles Get 3-Year Terms; Their Fines Are $1,000, $2,000

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—Three former Troy, internal revenue agents, convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government by "fixing" income tax returns, were sentenced today to three years each in federal prison.

Two were fined $1,000 each and the third was fined $2,000.

The men, who had been employed in the Troy office, were Murray Talanker, 40 of 60 Oakwood street, Albany, a certified public accountant and former agent; Dave Witt, 36, of 164-38 Willetts Point Blvd., Whitestone; and Abraham Inkeles, 34, of 47-11 212th, Bayside, both of Queens.

Fourth Was Suicide

A fourth man, Maurice F. O'Brien, former head of the Troy office, committed suicide last Monday in Walden after his conviction.

Talanker was fined $2,000 because, in the words of Judge Edwin T. Gottesman, the sentencing judge, he "was a major moving factor in the conspiracy."

Before sentencing Assistant U. S. Attorney Davis S. Carton asked the court to impose on Talanker the maximum sentence of five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine and to impose three years imprisonment each and a $5,000 fine each on Inkeles and Witt.

Gottesman denied a defense motion for release of the three on bail pending an appeal. He ordered the trio turned over to the custody of the U. S. marshal.

Calls It Unreasonable

Sol Gelb, Talanker's attorney, called the government's recommendation "unreasonable and

Costello Is Released At Federal Prison

Detroit, Oct. 29 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello became a free man today after serving out a federal prison term for contempt of the U. S. government.

The 59-year-old New York rackets operator, convicted for defying Senate crime investigators, was freed from the federal correctional institution at Milan.

He left the prison 35 miles west of here at 8:06 a. m. (EST) upon completing approximately a year of an 18 months sentence.

But freedom for Costello may be limited. The government is trying to deport him to his native Sicily as an undesirable. It wants to take away his citizenship.

Four-Year Terms To Be Voted Nov. 3

Poll Will Decide Change in Time for Mayor and Aldermen

An important question to be decided at the election Tuesday is whether the terms of the mayor, alderman-at-large, and aldermen should be changed from two to four years.

It will appear on the ballot as Local Proposition No. A and entitled "A local law to amend Section 13, Title III of the Charter of the City of Kingston, New York, relating to the term of office of the mayor, alderman-at-large and aldermen."

The Common Council last Sept. 1 voted to place the question on the ballot.

Form of Proposition

The form of submission of the proposition on the ballot will be: "Shall there be approved and adopted in the City of Kingston,

Eisenhower Favors GOP Candidates Including Troast

Press Secretary Elaborates on Discussion Which Took Place at Conference

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower favors the election of all candidates running for office on the Republican ticket—and that goes for Paul Troast, candidate for governor of New Jersey.

This came from Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, in elaboration on a discussion of politics at Eisenhower's news conference yesterday.

Hagerty said he has received numerous inquiries from newsmen as to whether Eisenhower was taking a slap yesterday at Troast or other party candidates.

Asked Whether Aware

The President was asked yesterday whether, at the time his picture was taken with Troast in New Jersey recently, he was aware that Troast had asked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York to parole New York labor racketeer Joey Fay from prison.

Eisenhower replied that at that time he had neaver heard of Fay, that he had gone to New Jersey to address a church group and had been asked to pose for pictures with another group.

This statement left unanswered the question of whether there would have been such a picture if Eisenhower had known about Fay or the letter.

Hagerty's elaboration today came in a warm exchange with Arthur Sylvester of The Newark Evening News.

No Point Blank Answers

Hagerty wouldn't say point blank whether Eisenhower now knows about Fay. But he declared: "You can understand English as well as I can. When the President said that at that time he didn't know, it is obvious he knew later."

There has been concern among some Republican candidates as to just where Eisenhower stood with regard to their campaigns since the President said on Oct. 21 that he wasn't going to use the presidency as an agency in partisan elections.

Eisenhower seemed to be trying to allay this concern when he told his news conference yesterday that of course he was interested in Republican control of Congress and indicated he might participate in the 1954 election campaign on a limited scale.

He gave the impression that he at least would make some speeches to lay the Republican record before the people, even if he doesn't campaign for individual candidates. At the same time, he didn't bar a friendly word or the taking of pictures with candidates here and there.

Speaks of Necessity

Hagerty said today the President was speaking of the necessity of electing Republican members of Congress on the record the administration has built.

"Just so there is no misunderstanding," the press secretary

Totals Are In Line With Early Story

Charts, Graphs, Photos Document Release —Total 'Probably' Is 29,815 Allies

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—The army has laid before the world a documented indictment of Communist atrocities in Korea—what it called "all the sickening details of horror" in which probably 6,113 Americans died a tortured death.

The statistics were not new. But it was the first time the army gave out grisly details of how captured American GIs were dragged on death marches, roasted alive, lined up and shot.

To document the bleak words of the report, compiled by the army's war crimes division and released last night, there were charts and graphs and photographs of bound, charred bodies.

The figures—of 29,815 "probable" deaths in atrocity cases, 6,113 were listed as Americans—were in line with earlier estimates.

After Col. James M. Hanley of a war crimes investigation unit issued a statement in November 1951, accusing the Reds of atrocities, the official estimate was the total would "approximate 6,000."

In New Report

But in the army's new report, what survivors had to say was grim reading—"one of the boys had no head; it seemed to have been mashed or beaten and was laying all over the road...the other GI had his eyes gouged out, and nothing remained where his eyes were except holes."

The charts and text indicated most of the atrocities occurred in the first year of the war, when the Communists invaded South Korea and overran American and Republic of Korea troops. There was a smaller upsurge of the graph line later when the Chinese entered the war and hurled allied forces southward from the region of the Yalu river.

To the Chinese were charged 27.3 per cent of the war crimes alleged. The North Korean Reds, who had only a fraction as many troops in the field as Communist China, were blamed as the greater barbarians.

'Interesting Fact'

The army said "it is an interesting fact that the North Korean Peoples Army slaughtered most civilians during September 1950. Of these, 14,602 or 84.6 per cent were slain in the last four days of the month."

That included the "Taejon massacre" where the Reds were said to have killed the occupants of the South Korean city in batches of hundreds at a time—among them 42 Americans.

What was not spelled out in the army's report was the reason for issuing the detailed account at this time. However, its issuance seemed related to a report to the United Nations three days ago by Dr. Charles Mayo, a UN delegate and famous American surgeon.

Dr. Mayo's report gave a scientific account of how the Reds compelled "confessions" from American war prisoners about germ warfare — a propaganda point often employed by the Communists.

Clues to Reasons

There were clues to the army's reason in a statement by Secretary Robert T. Stevens which accompanied the text.

He said releasing details of such "cold-blooded . . . torture and murder . . . is one of the best answers that can be given to anyone who questions the need for strong military defenses."

And he said also:

"It exposes the enemy for what he is. All of the sickening detail of horror and calculated brutality spells out the fact that we cannot relax our defense efforts while such threats to free peoples exist."

The army has had the affidavits, investigation findings and pictures in its possession since the early days of the Korean war. But policy makers had debated whether the ghastly details — especially the pictures—should be released because of the impact on parents, wives.

Halloween Parade, Costume Party Planned for Children

Saturday evening, the Kingston Recreation Department will hold its annual parade and costume contest as a Halloween celebration. As in the past the parade will start at Academy Green at 7 o'clock.

Por Ewen Drum Corps one of the finer marching and playing units in the state will lead the parade, minus its sharp military red and gold uniforms. The drum corps always ready to lend assistance to the youth of the city, will have every member dressed in comical costume.

A real treat is in store for all who attend the parade says Andrew J. Murphy, 3d, superintendent of the Recreation Department.

Costumed marchers will parade down Broadway behind the drum corps to the municipal auditorium where they will compete in the costume contest for some of the many fine prizes offered.

Following the marchers, carrying the younger children who are too small to march, will be the popular 40 and 8 locomotive manned by voyageurs from the American Legion Honor Society.

A police motorcycle escort will be in advance of the parade and a squad car will follow.

The drum corps will continue down Broadway to Delaware avenue where the marchers from downtown will be escorted back to the auditorium at about 7:40.

Assisting the Recreation Department at the auditorium and during the parade will be members of La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, also members of the Kingston Shriners Association.

It is estimated that the party will be over at 10 p. m. by Superintendent Murphy, who requests all to go straight home from the auditorium and not indulge in any pranks along the way that might put a mark against the youth of the city.

MacDonald Says He Sought Pardon For Joseph S. Fay

Providence, R. I., Oct. 29 (AP)—A former shipyard executive whose testimony helped send labor extortionist Joseph S. Fay to prison says he sought a pardon for the convict in the hope of freeing a New York water project from costly wildcat strikes.

John S. MacDonald, general manager and vice president of the old Walsh-Kaiser Shipbuilding Co. of Providence, told the Journal-Bulletin yesterday his name was on the list of persons who interceded for Fay with Gov. Dewey and the New York State Parole Board.

Supporters of Robert F. Wagner, Democratic candidate for mayor of New York city, have launched a court action aimed at forcing the parole board to make the list public.

MacDonald left the shipyard here after the war to become vice president of the Walsh Construction Co. in New York. He has testified that on one of the Walsh jobs he paid extortion money to Fay. When the labor leader was brought to trial in 1945, MacDonald was a star government witness.

Fay is serving a 7½-to-15 year term for shaking down contractors on a New York city supply project.

Wrote Letters in 1948

MacDonald told the Journal-Bulletin that in 1948 he wrote letters on Fay's behalf to Dewey and the parole board. He did so, MacDonald said, to rescue the Walsh firm from losses on a 45-million-dollar water project in the Catskill mountain area of New York beset by unauthorized strikes.

The letters, MacDonald said, stemmed from a bargain made when he visited Fay in Sing Sing Prison to see what could be done about ending the wildcat walkouts.

MacDonald explained it was agreed he would do what he could to advance Fay's parole efforts and what the convicted labor boss would reciprocate by seeing what could be done about ending the work tieup. MacDonald said he wrote the letters and the labor trouble stopped.

Trainman Is Killed

New York, Oct. 29 (AP) — One trainman was killed and another injured last night when two subway-elevated trains—neither carrying passengers — collided in Brooklyn. Police said two "lay-up" trains were being maneuvered when one rammed the rear of another. Killed was Percy L. Hastings, 58, of (104-63 109th street) Woodhaven, Queens, who was thrown from his open cab to the the tracks by the impact. Owen Mulrane, 55, motorman of the other train was slightly injured.

Two Papers Sued

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Lawrence Westbrook, of Hot Springs, Ark., and Heinz Pulvermann, Rye, N. Y., yesterday sued the Washington Post and the Washington Star for a total of two million dollars. Westbrook, former official of the Democratic National Committee, and Pulverman both filed libel suits asking $500,000 from each paper. The suits, filed in District Court, stemmed from stories in the Post and Star in October, 1952.

IKE WON'T CAMPAIGN

President Eisenhower has said he will not campaign for candidates for Congress next year. He explains his decision by a statement that he does not intend to use the presidency as an agency of partisan politics. This will not be regarded as good news by a number of Republican congressmen who must seek re-election next year and who could use the support that the President's popularity with the people would mean.

The President's motives in making his decision are admirable. But there is a case for those who say he should campaign actively for senators and congressmen whom he regards as able legislators. The success of an administration's legislative program depends in great measure on the make-up of Congress. If a hostile Congress is elected the President's hands could be tied. Those who take this point of view regard campaigning for Congressmen as part of a President's duty.

There is something to say for the President's idea, however. His job is difficult. It calls for long hours of work and concentration. Campaigning can use up energy and time which might be better spent in other ways. Every man must make his own decisions about where his duty lies. In many ways it is a good plan to let candidates stand on their own record.

WE'RE CATCHING UP

The United States is on the threshold of its next advance in commercial aviation.

In about a month, American Airlines will inaugurate nonstop service from New York to Los Angeles with a new transport plane, the DC-7, which is expected to span the continent regularly in some seven and a half hours. On a recent trial run, the DC-7, with a full crew and a passenger list, actually made it in less than seven.

Within a few years the international lines expect to be flying the Atlantic in six or seven hours.

Pan American has ordered some advanced models of the famed British Comets. An American plane maker is pushing ahead with a jet transport, which it is believed may surpass the Comet's performance. This is the craft which may fly New York to London in six hours.

We're catching up with the fantasies in the Sunday supplements.

NATION OF COWARDS

A nation of cowards is a term that might be applied to Russia. This is no criticism of the courage of individual inhabitants, but sums up in a few words the condition into which Russia has fallen. A new book, "How Russia Is Ruled," by Professor Merle Fainsod of Harvard University, says that every citizen lives in constant dread of a purge.

Even if he is in the top hierarchy of the Communist party, his position has made him jealous enemies who are ever on the lookout for a chance to upset him. An ordinary citizen constantly runs the danger that some enemy may report him to the police. Even the police themselves are not secure. In their work they accumulate so much unfavorable information about influential people that these often try to protect themselves by liquidating the police officials whom they suspect of hostility.

Carried to its extreme, this would mean that every Russian citizen is afraid of every other Russian citizen. Actually this is not far from the case.

WAR ON SEGREGATION

Within eight months the United States will have no more second-class soldiers. Assistant Defense Secretary John A. Hannah announces that by that time the last all-Negro units will be abolished. The Navy and Air Force are said by him to have abolished segregation, but this does not, apparently take into account the navy stewards, who are almost entirely Negro.

This is a positive step due largely to President Eisenhower's insistence. It will partly compensate, in the eyes of opponents of segregation, for his refusal to support civil rights legislation, and for his selection of Governor James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, one of the country's most prominent advocates of segregation, to represent us in the United Nations.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE MINER'S VOICE

The effort of Communist unions to hold their control of segments of labor is encountering opposition in the rank and file of the workers. Among the many fights on this question is that in the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

The "Miner's Voice," a publication issued by miners in Butte, Montana, has been sent to me and right on the front page is the heading "Fights on for Free Unionism." That is an accurate and correct phrase, "Free Unionism," for under Communism there is no free unionism, the workers are slaves in the hands of an elite controlled by a political party.

The most objectionable Communist-controlled union in this country is the U.E., the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America. This Communist-dominated union still holds contracts with such important companies as General Electric, contracts authorized by the National Labor Relations Board. Expelled from the C.I.O., these Communist unions are recognized by business and government, but the workers are rebelling against them.

The Butte Miner's Union in their 1953 convention, raised this issue. Let me quote:

"Today, in 1953, I.U. of M.M. & S.W. is expelled from the main stream of organized labor, expelled on charges of Communist influence and isolated from the bulk of organized labor. . . . Membership has dropped to nearly half of what it was in 1946. At the recent convention in St. Louis there were only 212 delegates representing . . . 82 local unions. While the reports at the convention did not disclose the sorry record of organizational defeats in which the International lost dozens of bargaining certification elections they did show that the I.U. of M.M. & S.W. was raided in 50 properties this year."

In a word, the workers are leaving another Communist-controlled and dominated union. Not business, not the Government fights these enemies of our country, but the workers leave them, joining other unions or taking their locals elsewhere.

The Butte Union asks:

"Why did Mine-Mill lose nearly half of its former membership? Why did several dozens of local unions leave Mine-Mill from 1947 to 1950? Why did Mine-Mill then have to fight off raids by C.I.O. and A.F. of L. Unions almost in every section of its jurisdiction in the United States and Canada? Why all the dissention (sic), fights, secession, expulsions, controversies, investigations, costly legal battles, raids, election losses, resignation of opposition officers, undermining and firing of persons who differ in political opinion and other disorders which took place in Mine-Mill during the past few years?"

And they give the answer:

"It is no secret that dissention over the injection of the Communist Party line into the program and policies of the I.U. of M.M. & S.W. caused three waves of secession of locals during the past eight years as well as the isolation and the general distrust the International Union is suffering now."

There is another point to all this. The American worker is a patriotic citizen who does not regard himself as a proletarian. He often owns his own home; belongs to a church alongside the very boss for whom he works; his children go to high school and college. He votes in elections and sometimes runs for public office. He resents being made into a class-conscious stooge.

So he resents being classified as an agent of a foreign enemy. He resents anyone turning his union into an agency of a foreign enemy. This is what the Butte miners have to say on this subject:

"The official publication has not reflected the social, economic, and political thinking of the membership and has pursued a Communist 'blame America'—'hate America' line on peace and other international issues."

This looks like a good fight for elementary Americanism against the control of a union by a foreign power. In the Fort Monmouth investigation of the McCarthy Committee, it is known that even in such a sensitive area, where our radar developments took place, a Communist union was organized. This will all come out in detail when the hearings are open and will shock the country even as the Rosenberg trial shocked America. Communists, on orders of a foreign foe, could, if permitted to dominate a union, at a critical moment, use this power to interfere with American production. The Communist-controlled union ought to be forbidden absolutely in this country.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

REDUCING WEIGHT

Now that obesity is considered a disease, the physician is able to persuade the patient to enter hospital and receive treatment as for any other disease. By having the patient understand that she must obey his orders as written out for the guidance of the nurse or nurses, he knows exactly how much food she is eating daily, how much rest, and how much exercise (if any) she is taking daily. He then prescribes a daily diet that will be 300 to 400 calories less than the patient needs, which means that some of the excess fat on the body will be used to make up these 300 or 400 calories. There is thus bound to be some loss of weight because the patient is under observation day and night and will not get extra food in the way of snacks brought in by visiting friends or relatives.

If the patient becomes ravenously hungry, the physician will prescribe small daily doses of a drug that will lower or depress the appetite—digitalis, amphetamine, atropine.

In regard to exercise, the physician has to be careful as so many overweights have a poor muscular heart and high blood pressure. However, as every minute of exercise uses up some of the excess fat and too much rest will slow down liver and gallbladder, which may be followed by constipation, some simple bending exercises (keeping the knees straight) are prescribed together with a short walk around the bedroom several times a day.

Although water has no food value, the physician knows that fat holds water in the tissues and he therefore cuts down by over 50 per cent on the fluid intake during the day and night.

Finally, the physician, in chatting with the patient, may discover that she is worrying about something, is living in a state of anxiety, and as she has nothing to do but think about herself, will turn to a box of candy, if available, in an effort to appease her anxiety. The physician, understanding this natural habit, will try to solve her problem or help her meet the conflict as best she can, pointing out that as overweight is perhaps her biggest worry, eating candy or extra food will surely put on extra weight.

From the above we can understand why obesity must be treated as a disease and the physician must therefore have to handle it from several angles: (a) cutting down on all foods, cuting down on all liquids, increasing the meat intake and cutting down on the starch foods, (b) increase the exercise slightly if this is safe, (c) use thyroid extract to heat up the body, (d) cut down on sleep and rest periods, (e) use a drug to drive water out of tissues if heart begins to fail.

Overweight and Underweight

Send for Dr. Barton's helpful booklet entitled "Overweight and Underweight," with its many suggestions re diet, etc. Enclose 25 cents to cover cost of handling and mailing, and send it to The Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

"Well, I Guess That About Wraps It Up"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Behind all the present argument over the size of future U. S. defense budgets there is an as yet unanswered question of foreign policy.

How does the United States propose to check aggression in any part of the world? Will it have to be done by the now old-fashioned conventional weapons of World War 2, as in Korea? Or can it be done cheaper by atomic and hydrogen bombs?

At first glance it might seem that this was a purely military question to be decided by the Department of Defense. But it goes much higher. The decision to use or not to use the atomic bomb is reserved by law to the President of the United States. The policy has been not to use the bomb.

This applied to Korea. It applies to the fighting in Indo-China. It would presumably apply if fighting were to break out in any other trouble spot.

It is now argued in some quarters that if the United States had a clear policy statement that it would henceforh use atomic weapons to put down acts of aggression, they wouldn't happen.

Extending Bombing

The implications of such a policy present a frightening responsibility. If atomic bombs were to be used to stop the war in Indo-China, or to stop renewed hostilities in Korea, they would have to be dropped on Communist sources of supply. These are obviously bases in China, in Manchuria and even in Russia.

What such action would lead to is a matter for debate. While it might stop local aggression momentarily, it would probably greatly enlarge any war. No world leader would want to take on the responsibility for this action lightly.

Two things have happened, however, to bring this issue to a head. One is the tremendous advance that has been made in atomic weapon development and in their stockpiling over the past two years. The other is the terrific cost to the United States in trying to maintain armed forces prepared to fight both conventional and atomic wars.

In the new frantic efforts to reduce the cost of national defense and cut taxes, something is going to have to give. Advocates of greater use of an atomic threat argue the only way this economy can be effected is to put more reliance on the bomb and new weapons still under development.

One of the main arguments for this new concept is that U. S. armed forces are now too widely dispersed. Too many divisions are in Europe, too many in Korea, Japan and other Pacific bases. Naval forces are in the Far East, European waters and the Mediterranean—a new theatre for American peacetime operations. Air bases are scattered in Greenland, Europe, Africa and on the edges of Asia.

The only prospects for contracting or reducing these forces is through building up the defenses of countries like Germany and Japan. Agreement from France to go ahead with the European Defense Community idea would help mightily. But such rearmament is still several years away.

New Concept of Defense

An alternative, and this is obviously an Air Force proposal, is the maintenance of a chain of air bases in strategic locations like Okinawa and Spain. These bases would be kept in serviceable condition, ready to receive heavy reinforcements the instant trouble threatened.

This is admittedly a concept of a national defense policy based on warfare of the future. Its reliance on the mere threat of atomic weapons to prevent wars is questioned by many experienced military experts. They recall that "victory through air power alone" did not work in either World War 2 or in Korea. They insist that conventional armaments will always be necessary.

To the believers in the effectiveness of policing the world with atomic weapons, the idea of planning for four-year wars is obsolete thinking. They insist that wars could be won in 30 days and at perhaps one one-thousandth of the cost of wars fought in the first half of the twentieth century with conventional weapons.

The economy of atomic preparedness represents some of the changed thinking in Washington. Up to now the idea has been that atomic armament would always be an added and extra burdensome, but unavoidable, cost in future wars.

The Stone of Death

The Stone of Death in Naso Yunoto, Japan. This rock, which is about 7 feet high and 11 feet long, is fenced in to bar access to all living things. It is reputed to bring death to any animate thing touching it; no plants or flowers grow within 200 feet, and birds and insects do not alight on it. A tablet attached to the stone enumerates its most recent human victims. It is certain that poisonous gases emanate from the site. In the complete absence of wind, these gases lie close to the ground, and are fatal to anyone approaching the stone.

Apologists for Reds Will Never Be Able to Cover Up Horrible Torture Facts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 29—The terrible facts are out at last. No amount of glossing over by the apologists for Red China and the Communists in this country and in Europe now can hide the awful story of torture and barbarism in Korea which has been made public by the U. S. Army.

For now it is disclosed that 6,113 Americans were the victims of indescribable atrocities and that hope has been abandoned for nearly all the 7,955 American boys listed as missing in Korea.

The army report, prepared last spring, has been suppressed since that time so as not to create any new incidents which might interfere with the return of surviving American prisoners. About 250 Communist prisoners, known to have engaged in the atrocities, were held to the last by the UN side but now have been released to the Communist side or to the neutral commission and hence are beyond the reach of any American instrument of justice.

The army report is replete with case histories and sickening photographs. Entirely apart from the 6,113 American victims, there were 23,702 other persons—nearly all Koreans—against whom atrocities were committed.

The United States Government has begun to tell the story to the whole world. For nothing apparently can be done to punish the individuals who were the war criminals. The only thing that can be accomplished now is to hold the Peiping and North Korean and Moscow governments responsible for the acts committed by their agents in North Korea under whose orders the disarmed UN soldiers were so brutally treated.

This means more than merely condemning the war criminals by a resolution of the UN for the time has come to ostracize as barbaric and uncivilized the governments of Red China, Soviet Russia, and North Korea. Diplomatic relations with such governments, if carried on for reasons of expediency, could only mean that the free governments would be treating them as equals—indifferent to the crimes committed.

Sooner or later the United Nations will have to take a stand on the report which has been presented by the U. S. Army to the UN Command. For Soviet Russia publicly admitted last spring that — in contravention of the 1950 resolutions of the UN which called on all member nations to refrain from giving aid to the aggressors in Korea—the Communist regime in Moscow has sent munitions and supplies and individual officers to help the Reds in North Korea carry on war against the UN itself.

This constitutes such a breach of faith as to amount to treason against the UN, and hence many Americans are wondering why the Soviet government hasn't been tried and expelled before this from the UN. It will be recalled that the League of Nations once had the temerity to expel the Soviets.

There are many Americans who have been told that the UN constitutes the hope of the world for peace and that it is a means of enforcing collective security. But that organization thus far has failed to purge itself of governments which violate the spirit of the charter and ignore its resolutions. There is no way, of course, short of war to compel physical compliance, so the only means left is moral force. But moral force takes considerable courage, too. In the present sequence of events, moral force would be exerted if the members of the UN examined the evidence furnished by the U. S. Army concerning atrocities in Korea and condemned the governments responsible for those brutal and barbaric acts. Then it would follow logically that no nation would be admitted to the UN which had not redressed the wrongs done and meted out punishment to the war criminals.

Until and unless such steps satisfactory to the UN were taken, any government whose troops or agents committed the crimes in Korea would be barred from the UN. This would be an example of collective resistance to aggression which the whole world would understand. It would awaken among the peoples behind the iron curtain, who are themselves the victims of brutality, a hope that liberation for them could not long be postponed. Certainly if the peoples now under Communist rule knew that the rest of the world would not recognize such uncivilized governments, this would form a rallying cry for the overthrow of those governments.

The report on Korean atrocities merely confirms the belief that to attempt to negotiate with a gangster government is as useless as it is to make deals with gangsters in the underworld of our American cities.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I have news about Congressman Arthur G. Klein, of the 19th New York District, on the Lower East Side of New York.

This statesman's interesting career includes the accommodation of a lobby-gow named Joseph Ricca on the government payroll in the guise of congressional clerk, in which synthetic job Ricca did absolutely no work for his salary, as he testified before the New York State Crime Commission. In that poignant little passage in the official record, Ricca said his duties were "nothing," that his $1,500 a year was "a gift" from the taxpayers by Klein's favor, and that he didn't know where he was supposed to work because he wasn't supposed to work.

Our morsel for the day, however, is the Hon. Klein's experience as "special guardian" of John A. McCarthy, better known as Fishhooks, a rich and horny-handed New York construction contractor who fell downstairs in his home in his old age, lit on his head and was declared incompetent by reason of his injuries.

Mr. McCarthy was called Fishhooks because of a theory, possibly fallacious, that he had fishhooks in his pockets which made it painful for him to get out money to pick up a tab. It is to be hoped that he had a similar difficulty getting it out for the AF of L extortioners who have run up the cost of every yard of rock and soil excavated all the way from the Delaware Water Gap to the subways for the last 50 years.

At any rate, Mr. McCarthy still had a magnificent bundle of wealth when he lit on his head at the bottom of the stairs and lawyers came a'running to administer his affairs as guardians, custodians and the like of that.

By a sweet coincidence, Justice Morris Eder of the New York county Supreme Court, a political neighbor of Congressman Klein, selected him for "special guardian." He started on March 12, 1951, and, when Mr. Klein's labors were done on April 26, six weeks later, Justice Eder allowed him $20,000 as his compensation. Mr. Klein actually put in for $25,000 for his toil and the wear and tear on his genius, but Justice Eder seems to have thought that that would be a little too raw and cut him back 20 per cent.

But the tragic chapter, in a few short and simple words, is that when Joseph V. or Holy Joe McKee, who was for a short time mayor of New York some years ago, appealed the case in the interests of the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese, Mr. Klein was cut down to $5,000.

John J. Doyle, Mr. McKee's associate, did an artistic job on Congressman Klein and on some others, too, including George Trosk, of the current Moreland Commission which is said to be investigating both Republican and Democratic larceny in the harness-track racket, the union "welfare" insurance racket, and the union rackets themselves. Mr. Trosk put in for $110,000, was allowed $75,000 by the court and, like Mr. Klein, had his ears bobbed by the Appellate Division. He came out of it with $25,000.

Two psychiatrists were cut from $3,500 to $1,500 and from $2,500 to $1,000, respectively, and one of the documents says of the $3,500 that "on the basis of three full days of service he received compensation at the rate of $1,167" before the bob. As to the other learned doc, the same document said he was awarded compensation at the rate of $1,200 a day before the bob.

As to Mr. Klein, the brief said "the allowance amounts to approximately $1,540 a day" before the reduction, and this at a time when Congress was in session. However, it appeared that he did no work on the case on seven particular days and on some other days did less than a full day's toil.

Mr. McCarthy's estate consisted of $3,070,000 cash in banks; $4,530,189 in securities and other wealth to a total of $8,122,000.

To a sister he left $500,000 and a safe in his house which held $586,000 in bonds and additional securities, plus the income from the residuary estate for the rest of her life. She is now in her 70's. Poor fish-hooks, after all his thrift, now finds himself in the custody of servants and too old to enjoy corned beef and cabbage

President Eisenhower has said he will not campaign for candidates for Congress next year. He explains his decision by a statement that he does not intend to use the presidency as an agency of partisan politics. This will not be regarded as good news by a number of Republican congressmen who must seek re-election next year and who could use the support that the President's popularity with the people would mean.

The President's motives in making his decision are admirable. But there is a case for those who say he should campaign actively for senators and congressmen whom he regards as able legislators. The success of an administration's legislative program depends in great measure on the make-up of Congress. If a hostile Congress is elected the President's hands could be tied. Those who take this point of view regard campaigning for Congressmen as part of a President's duty.

There is something to say for the President's idea, however. His job is difficult. It calls for long hours of work and concentration. Campaigning can use up energy and time which might be better spent in other ways. Every man must make his own decisions about where his duty lies. In many ways it is a good plan to let candidates stand on their own record.

WE'RE CATCHING UP

The United States is on the threshold of its next advance in commercial aviation.

In about a month, American Airlines will inaugurate nonstop service from New York to Los Angeles with a new transport plane, the DC-7, which is expected to span the continent regularly in some seven and a half hours. On a recent trial run, the DC-7, with a full crew and a passenger list, actually made it in less than seven.

Within a few years the international lines expect to be flying the Atlantic in six or seven hours.

Pan American has ordered some advanced models of the famed British Comets. An American plane maker is pushing ahead with a jet transport, which it is believed may surpass the Comet's performance. This is the craft which may fly New York to London in six hours.

We're catching up with the fantasies in the Sunday supplements.

NATION OF COWARDS

A nation of cowards is a term that might be applied to Russia. This is no criticism of the courage of individual inhabitants, but sums up in a few words the condition into which Russia has fallen. A new book, "How Russia Is Ruled," by Professor Merle Fainsod of Harvard University, says that every citizen lives in constant dread of a purge.

Even if he is in the top hierarchy of the Communist party, his position has made him jealous enemies who are ever on the lookout for a chance to upset him. An ordinary citizen constantly runs the danger that some enemy may report him to the police. Even the police themselves are not secure. In their work they accumulate so much unfavorable information about influential people that these often try to protect themselves by liquidating the police officials whom they suspect of hostility.

Carried to its extreme, this would mean that every Russian citizen is afraid of every other Russian citizen. Actually this is not far from the case.

WAR ON SEGREGATION

Within eight months the United States will have no more second-class soldiers. Assistant Defense Secretary John A. Hannah announces that by that time the last all-Negro units will be abolished. The Navy and Air Force are said by him to have abolished segregation, but this does not, apparently take into account the navy stewards, who are almost entirely Negro.

This is a positive step due largely to President Eisenhower's insistence. It will partly compensate, in the eyes of opponents of segregation, for his refusal to support civil rights legislation, and for his selection of Governor James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, one of the country's most prominent advocates of segregation, to represent us in the United Nations.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE MINER'S VOICE

The effort of Communist unions to hold their control of segments of labor is encountering opposition in the rank and file of the workers. Among the many fights on this question is that in the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

The "Miner's Voice," a publication issued by miners in Butte, Montana, has been sent to me and right on the front page is the heading "Fight s on for Free Unionism." That is an accurate and correct phrase, "Free Unionism," for under Communism there is no free unionism, the workers are slaves in the hands of an elite controlled by a political party.

The most objectionable Communist-controlled union in this country is the U.E., the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America. This Communist-dominated union still holds contracts with such important companies as General Electric, contracts authorized by the National Labor Relations Board. Expelled from the C.I.O., these Communist unions are recognized by business and government, but the workers are rebelling against them.

The Butte Miner's Union in their 1953 convention, raised this issue. Let me quote:

"Today, in 1953, I.U. of M.M. & S.W. is expelled from the main stream of organized labor, expelled on charges of Communist influence and isolated from the bulk of organized labor. . . . Membership has dropped to nearly half of what it was in 1946. At the recent convention in St. Louis there were only 212 delegates representing . . . 82 local unions. While the reports at the convention did not disclose the sorry record of organizational defeats in which the international lost dozens of bargaining certification elections they did show that the I.U. of M.M. & S.W. was raided in 50 properties this year."

In a word, the workers are leaving another Communist-controlled and dominated union. Not business, not the Government fights these enemies of our country, but the workers leave them, joining other unions or taking their locals elsewhere.

The Butte Union asks:

"Why did Mine-Mill lose nearly half of its former membership? Why did several dozens of local unions leave Mine-Mill from 1947 to 1950? Why did Mine-Mill then have to fight off raids by C.I.O. and A.F. of L. Unions almost in every section of its jurisdiction in the United States and Canada? Why all the dissention (sic), fights, secession, expulsions, controversies, investigations, costly legal battles, raids, election losses, resignation of opposition officers, undermining and firing of persons who differ in political opinion and other disorders which took place in Mine-Mill during the past few years?"

And they give the answer:

"It is no secret that dissention over the injection of the Communist Party line into the program and policies of the I.U. of M.M. & S.W. caused three waves of secession of locals during the past eight years as well as the isolation and the general distrust the International Union is suffering now."

There is another point to all this. The American worker is a patriotic citizen who does not regard himself as a proletarian. He often owns his own home; belongs to a church alongside the very boss for whom he works; his children go to high school and college. He votes in elections and sometimes runs for public office. He resents being made into a class-conscious stooge.

So he resents being classified as an agent of a foreign enemy. He resents anyone turning his union into an agency of a foreign enemy. This is what the Butte miners have to say on this subject:

"The official publication has not reflected the social, economic, and political thinking of the membership and has pursued a Communist 'blame America'—'hate America' line on peace and other international issues."

This looks like a good fight for elementary Americanism against the control of a union by a foreign power. In the Fort Monmouth investigation of the McCarthy Committee, it is known that even in such a sensitive area, where our radar developments took place, a Communist union was organized. This will all come out in detail when the hearings are open and will shock the country even as the Rosenberg trial shocked America. Communists, on orders of a foreign foe, could, if permitted to dominate a union, at a critical moment, use this power to interfere with American production. The Communist-controlled union ought to be forbidden absolutely in this country.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

REDUCING WEIGHT

Now that obesity is considered a disease, the physician is able to persuade the patient to enter hospital and receive treatment as for any other disease. By having the patient understand that she must obey his orders as written out for the guidance of the nurse or nurses, he knows exactly how much food she is eating daily, how much rest, and how much exercise (if any) she is taking daily. He then prescribes a daily diet that will be 300 to 400 calories less than the patient needs, which means that some of the excess fat on the body will be used to make up these 300 or 400 calories. There is thus bound to be some loss of weight because the patient is under observation day and night and will not get extra food in the way of snacks brought in by visiting friends or relatives.

If the patient becomes ravenously hungry, the physician will prescribe small daily doses of a drug that will lower or depress the appetite—digitalis, amphetamine, atropine.

In regard to exercise, the physician has to be careful as so many overweights have a poor muscular heart and high blood pressure. However, as every minute of exercise uses up some of the excess fat and too much rest will slow down liver and gallbladder, which may be followed by constipation, some simple bending exercises (keeping the knees straight) are prescribed together with a short walk around the bedroom several times a day.

Although water has no food value, the physician knows that fat holds water in the tissues and he therefore cuts down by over 50 per cent on the fluid intake during the day and night.

Finally, the physician, in chatting with the patient, may discover that she is worrying about something, is living in a state of anxiety, and as she has nothing to do but think about herself, will turn to a box of candy, if available, in an effort to appease her anxiety. The physician, understanding this natural habit, will try to solve her problem or help her meet the conflict as best she can, pointing out that as overweight is perhaps her biggest worry, eating candy or extra food will surely put on extra weight.

From the above we can understand why obesity must be treated as a disease and the physician must therefore have to handle it from several angles: (a) cutting down on all foods, cuting down on all liquids, increasing the meat intake and cutting down on the starch foods, (b) increase the exercise slightly if this is safe, (c) use thyroid extract to heat up the body, (d) cut down on sleep and rest periods, (e) use a drug to drive water out of tissues if heart begins to fail.

"Well, I Guess That About Wraps It Up"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Behind all the present argument over the size of future U. S. defense budgets there is an as yet unanswered question of foreign policy.

How does the United States propose to check aggression in any part of the world? Will it have to be done by the now old-fashioned conventional weapons of World War 2, as in Korea? Or can it be done cheaper by atomic and hydrogen bombs?

At first glance it might seem that this was a purely military question to be decided by the Department of Defense. But it goes much higher. The decision to use or not to use the atomic bomb is reserved by law to the President of the United States. The policy has been not to use the bomb.

This applied to Korea. It applies to the fighting in Indo-China. It would presumably apply if fighting were to break out in any other trouble spot.

It is now argued in some quarters that if the United States had a clear policy statement that it would henceforh use atomic weapons to put down acts of aggression, they wouldn't happen.

Extending Bombing

The implications of such a policy present a frightening responsibility. If atomic bombs were to be used to stop the war in Indo-China, or to stop renewed hostilities in Korea, they would have to be dropped on Communist sources of supply. These are obviously bases in China, in Manchuria and even in Russia.

What such action would lead to is a matter for debate. While it might stop local aggression momentarily, it would probably greatly enlarge any war. No world leader would want to take on the responsibility for this action lightly.

Two things have happened, however, to bring this issue to a head. One is the tremendous advance that has been made in atomic weapon development and in their stockpiling over the past two years. The other is the terrific cost to the United States in trying to maintain armed forces prepared to fight both conventional and atomic wars.

In the new frantic efforts to reduce the cost of national defense and cut taxes, something is going to have to give. Advocates of greater use of an atomic threat argue the only way this economy can be effected is to put more reliance on the bomb and new weapons still under development.

One of the main arguments for this new concept is that U. S. armed forces are now too widely dispersed. Too many divisions are in Europe, too many in Korea, Japan and other Pacific bases. Naval forces are in the Far East, European waters and the Mediterranean—a new theatre for American peacetime operations. Air bases are scattered in Greenland, Europe, Africa and on the edges of Asia.

The only prospects for contracting or reducing these forces is through building up the defenses of countries like Germany and Japan. Agreement from France to go ahead with the European Defense Community idea would help mightily. But such rearmament is still several years away.

New Concept of Defense

An alternative, and this is obviously an Air Force proposal, is the maintenance of a chain of air bases in strategic locations like Okinawa and Spain. These bases would be kept in serviceable condition, ready to receive heavy reinforcements the instant trouble threatened.

This is admittedly a concept of a national defense policy based on warfare of the future. Its reliance on the mere threat of atomic weapons to prevent wars is questioned by many experienced military experts. They recall that "victory through air power alone" did not work in either World War 2 or in Korea. They insist that conventional armaments will always be necessary.

To the believers in the effectiveness of policing the world with atomic weapons, the idea of planning for four-year wars is obsolete thinking. They insist that wars could be won in 30 days and at perhaps one one-thousandth of the cost of wars fought in the first half of the twentieth century with conventional weapons.

The economy of atomic preparedness represents some of the changed thinking in Washington. Up to now the idea has been that atomic armament would always be an added and extra burdensome, but unavoidable, cost in future wars.

The Stone of Death

The Stone of Death in Naso Yunoto, Japan. This rock, which is about 7 feet high and 11 feet long, is fenced in to bar access to all living things. It is reputed to bring death to any animate thing touching it; no plants or flowers grow within 200 feet, and birds and insects do not alight on it. A tablet attached to the stone enumerates its most recent human victims. It is certain that poisonous gases emanate from the site. In the complete absence of wind, these gases lie close to the ground, and are fatal to anyone approaching the stone.

Apologists for Reds Will Never Be Able to Cover Up Horrible Torture Facts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 29—The terrible facts are out at last. No amount of glossing over by the apologists for Red China and the Communists in this country and in Europe now can hide the awful story of torture and barbarism in Korea which has been made public by the U. S. Army.

For now it is disclosed that 6,113 Americans were the victims of indescribable atrocities and that hope has been abandoned for nearly all the 7,955 American boys listed as missing in Korea.

The army report, prepared last spring, has been suppressed since that time so as not to create any new incidents which might interfere with the return of surviving American prisoners. About 250 Communist prisoners, known to have engaged in the atrocities, were held to the last by the UN side but now have been released to the Communist side or to the neutral commission and hence are beyond the reach of any American instrument of justice.

The army report is replete with case histories and sickening photographs. Entirely apart from the 6,113 American victims, there were 23,702 other persons—nearly all Koreans—against whom atrocities were committed.

The United States Government has begun to tell the story to the whole world. For nothing apparently can be done to punish the individuals who were the war criminals. The only thing that can be accomplished now is to hold the Peiping and North Korean and Moscow governments responsible for the acts committed by their agents in North Korea under whose orders the disarmed UN soldiers were so brutally treated.

This means more than merely condemning the war criminals by a resolution of the UN for the time has come to ostracize as barbaric and uncivilized the governments of Red China, Soviet Russia, and North Korea. Diplomatic relations with such governments, if carried on for reasons of expediency, could only mean that the free governments would be treating them as equals—indifferent to the crimes committed.

Sooner or later the United Nations will have to take a stand on the report which has been presented by the U. S. Army to the UN Command. For Soviet Russia publicly admitted last spring that — in contravention of the 1950 resolutions of the UN which called on all member nations to refrain from giving aid to the aggressors in Korea—the Communist regime in Moscow has sent munitions and supplies and individual officers to help the Reds in North Korea carry on war against the UN itself.

This constitutes such a breach of faith as to amount to treason against the UN, and hence many Americans are wondering why the Soviet government hasn't been tried and expelled before this from the UN. It will be recalled that the League of Nations once had the temerity to expel the Soviets.

There are many Americans who have been told that the UN constitutes the hope of the world for peace and that it is a means of enforcing collective security. But that organization thus far has failed to purge itself of governments which violate the spirit of the charter and ignore its resolutions. There is no way, of course, short of war to compel physical compliance, so the only means left is moral force. But moral force takes considerable courage, too. In the present sequence of events, moral force would be exerted if the members of the UN examined the evidence furnished by the U. S. Army concerning atrocities in Korea and condemned the governments responsible for those brutal and barbaric acts. Then it would follow logically that no nation would be admitted to the UN which had not redressed the wrongs done and meted out punishment to the war criminals.

Until and unless such steps satisfactory to the UN were taken, any government whose troops or agents committed the crimes in Korea would be barred from the UN. This would be an example of collective resistance to aggression which the whole world would understand. It would awaken among the peoples behind the iron curtain, who are themselves the victims of brutality, a hope that liberation for them could not long be postponed. Certainly if the peoples now under Communist rule knew that the rest of the world would not recognize such uncivilized governments, this would form a rallying cry for the overthrow of those governments.

The report on Korean atrocities merely confirms the belief that to attempt to negotiate with a gangster government is as useless as it is to make deals with gangsters in the underworld of our American cities.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I have news about Congressman Arthur G. Klein, of the 19th New York District, on the Lower East Side of New York.

This statesman's interesting career includes the accommodation of a lobby-gow named Joseph Ricca on the government payroll in the guise of congressional clerk, in which synthetic job Ricca did absolutely no work for his salary, as he testified before the New York State Crime Commission. In that poignant little passage in the official record, Ricca said his duties were "nothing," that his $1,500 a year was "a gift" from the taxpayers by Klein's favor, and that he didn't know where he was supposed to work because he wasn't supposed to work.

Our morsel for the day, however, is the Hon. Klein's experience as "special guardian" of John A. McCarthy, better known as Fishhooks, a rich and horny-handed New York construction contractor who fell downstairs in his home in his old age, lit on his head and was declared incompetent by reason of his injuries.

Mr. McCarthy was called Fishhooks because of a theory, possibly fallacious, that he had fishhooks in his pockets which made it painful for him to get out money to pick up a tab. It is to be hoped that he had a similar difficulty getting it out for the AF of L extortioners who have run up the cost of every yard of rock and soil excavated all the way from the Delaware Water Gap to the subways for the last 50 years.

At any rate, Mr. McCarthy still had a magnificent bundle of wealth when he lit on his head at the bottom of the stairs and lawyers came a'running to administer his affairs as guardians, custodians and the like of that.

By a sweet coincidence, Justice Morris Eder of the New York county Supreme Court, a political neighbor of Congressman Klein, selected him for "special guardian." He started on March 12, 1951, and, when Mr. Klein's labors were done on April 26, six weeks later, Justice Eder allowed him $20,000 as his compensation. Mr. Klein actually put in for $25,000 for his toil and the wear and tear on his genius, but Justice Eder seems to have thought that that would be a little too raw and cut him back 20 per cent.

But the tragic chapter, in a few short and simple words, is that when Joseph V. or Holy Joe McKee, who was for a short time mayor of New York some years ago, appealed the case in the interests of the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese, Mr. Klein was cut down to $5,000.

John J. Doyle, Mr. McKee's associate, did an artistic job on Congressman Klein and on some others, too, including George Trosk, of the current Moreland Commission which is said to be investigating both Republican and Democratic larceny in the harness-track racket, the union "welfare" insurance racket, and the union rackets themselves. Mr. Trosk put in for $110,000, was allowed $75,000 by the court and, like Mr. Klein, had his ears bobbed by the Appellate Division. He came out of it with $25,000.

Two psychiatrists were cut from $3,500 to $1,500 and from $2,500 to $1,000, respectively, and one of the documents says of the $3,500 that "on the basis of three full days of service he received compensation at the rate of $1,167" before the bob. As to the other learned doc, the same document said he was awarded compensation at the rate of $1,200 a day before the bob.

As to Mr. Klein, the brief said "the allowance amounts to approximately $1,540 a day" before the reduction, and this at a time when Congress was in session. However, it appeared that he did no work on the case on seven particular days and on some other days did less than a full day's toil.

Mr. McCarthy's estate consisted of $3,070,000 cash in banks; $4,530,189 in securities and other wealth to a total of $8,122,000.

To a sister he left $500,000 and a safe in his house which held $586,000 in bonds and additional securities, plus the income from the residuary estate for the rest of her life. She is now in her 70's. Poor fish-hooks, after all his thrift, now finds himself in the custody of servants and too old to enjoy corned beef and cabbage

Churchill Gets Backing

London, Oct. 29 (AP) — Two leading Conservative newspapers urged Prime Minister Churchill today to "go it alone" in a meeting with Soviet Premier Malenkov if he can't persuade President Eisenhower to join him. They expressed understanding of American distrust for the Russians but said Churchill's idea of holding informal East-West talks on world issues at the highest level was the only way to find out what is on the Russian leader's mind. The Daily Telegraph said it readily conceded President Eisenhower would not find the same degree of support in his country for such a meeting as Churchill has in Britain. The Daily Mail said: "We do not wonder that ardent Americans have lost all patience with the Russians and have come to regard their words as false. But the situation has changed. "There are new men in Moscow of whom we know little or nothing — except soon after Madlenkov came to power he made a friendly gesture toward America."

Ministers Given CD Talk; Clergy Role Is Stressed

The Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of the Redeemer Lutheran Church, and newly elected president, opened the first Fall meeting of the Kingston Ministerial Association at the YMCA Tuesday. The other new officers who took over their duties at the meeting were the Rev. Donald E. Brown, vice-president; the Rev. Forrest R. Prindle, secretary-treasurer; and Lou Schafer, corresponding secretary.

The meeting was addressed by Major H. Edgar Timmerman, of the Ulster-Greene Civil Defense Council, on the place of the Clergy in the Civil Defense Program. He related the work of the Civil Defense Council in this area and the responsibility that has been placed upon this large community by the State Council.

"Because we are not a prime target area, our greatest work will be that of ministration to evacuees which will be sent to us from New York city, the number one target area on the East Coast. Since there will be approximately 25,000 such people assigned to our county and city we will have a great job of caring for these people. The clergy will have a place in the caring for the spiritual and mental needs of these people," he said.

He stressed the importance of preventing panic and keeping a high morale among these people who would be uprooted from their homes and familiar surroundings. Also in the case of any sudden attack, there would be special services desired in each church to pray, worship, and generally increase the spiritual tenor of the people. It would also be a means of helping to secure workers needed to take care of the incoming evacuees. He requested a committee of two be appointed from the Association to work with the Civil Defense Council and members of the other two religious faiths of the community.

Committees Named

After Major Timmerman's address, the general business and program for the year were discussed. The following committees were appointed by President Gaise to serve for the ensuing year: Publicity—the Rev. Forrest R. Prindle, Lou Schafer; Program—the Revs. Donald E. Brown, Clyde Snell, Frank L. Gollnick, Arthur E. Oudemoul, D. George Davies; Radio—the Revs. William J. McVey, Theodore Hammer, Ivan Gossoo, J. Dean Dystra, Fred Fike; Scouting—the Revs. Harvey C. Todd, David C. Gaise, Harry Christiana; Social Actions—the Revs. Ralph Houston, Lars Lillestolen, Forrest R. Prindle, Herbert Bloom, Donald E. Brown; the Easter Dawn Service—the Revs. Ivan Gossoo, Ralph Houston, John D. Dykstra, William C. Cain, Harold Pangburn; Civil Defense Liaison—the Revs. Forrest R. Prindle, and John D. Dykstra. The Rev. Mr. Dykstra was appointed as the committee for the caring for the ministry to the institutions of the city that need special services. Regular services are sponsored by the Association at the Home for the Aged on Washington avenue and the Tuberculosis Hospital.

The Rev. Sampson Greene, new pastor of the Franklin Street AME Zion Church, was welcomed to the Association. Plans were also made for a farewell luncheon for the Rev. Mr. Lillestolen, pastor of St. Paul's Church, who will leave the city Dec. 1, for new work in Long Island. The next meeting of the Association will be a special meeting Nov. 6 at 9 a. m. at the YMCA to hear a special report of the Social Action Committee.

Goldstein Cites Time-off Law For Election Day

Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein disclosed today that his Election Frauds Bureau has been deluged with inquiries from employers, employes and union officials relating to "time-off for voting" in the Nov 3 election.

In the public interest the attorney general calls attention to the pertinent section of the State Elecion Law (Section 226) which in essence holds that employes are entitled to take two hours off from their employment in order to vote on Election Day.

Must Notify Employer

Mr. Goldstein added: "No deduction shall be made from the usual salary or wages of such voter and no other penalty may be imposed if the voter notifies his employer before the day of election of his intended absence to vote."

The attorney general asserted the law applied equally to weekly, daily, hourly or piece-work earnings.

"Employes of the state and all its civil divisions including cities, towns and villages, are specifically covered by the statute," said Mr. Goldstein. "However," he added, it does not apply to federal employes."

The attorney general also cautioned that under the State Penal Law (Section 759) "a person or corporation refusing an employe time of for voting or subjecting the employe to a penalty or a reduction in wages because of the exercise of his privilege, is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine up to $500 or imprisonment up to a year, or both."

Smith Is Elected

Elmira, Oct. 29 (AP)—Leland D. Smith of Brasher Falls yesterday was reelected master of the New York State Grange. Also reelected at the state group's 81st annual meeting here were Harold M. Stanley of Skaneateles, secretary, and John W. Kleis of Hamburg, treasurer.

The seven-mile San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge is rated as the longest in the world.

Rain Is Above Normal

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—Drenching rains yesterday extending into early today raised the average for the month to date slightly above normal, despite the long dry spell preceding them. More than one-third of an inch fell this morning, which together with yesterday's two inches, raised the average to 3.49 inches, compared with a normal 3.32 inches. More showers were expected today with clearing and colder weather tonight. Temperatures in the 60's were about 10 degrees above normal for the day.

New Motoring Hazard

New London, Conn. (AP)—An automobile knocked down a utility pole near Jack Freedman's farm, plunging his poultry house into darkness. Freedman has filed a $1,000 suit against the driver. He charged that when the lights went out, his chickens became so scared that they huddled together in a corner and suffocated.

L. A. Chapin Dies

Houston, Tex., Oct. 29 (AP)—Leon A. Chapin, 68, New York dairy farmer who achieved the leadership of one of the world's largest milk producer co-operatives, died yesterday of a heart attack. Chapin, president of the 26,000 member Dairymen's League of New York State, collapsed in a hotel pharmacy shortly after leaving the final session of a conference called by the National Farm Credit Administration.

Goldstein Cites Time-off Law For Election Day

Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein disclosed today that his Election Frauds Bureau has been deluged with inquiries from employers, employes and union officials relating to "time-off for voting" in the Nov 3 election.

In the public interest the attorney general calls attention to the pertinent section of the State Elecion Law (Section 226) which in essence holds that employes are entitled to take two hours off from their employment in order to vote on Election Day.

Must Notify Employer

Mr. Goldstein added: "No deduction shall be made from the usual salary or wages of such voter and no other penalty may be imposed if the voter notifies his employer before the day of election of his intended absence to vote."

The attorney general asserted the law applied equally to weekly, daily, hourly or piece-work earnings.

"Employes of the state and all its civil divisions including cities, towns and villages, are specifically covered by the statute," said Mr. Goldstein. "However," he added, it does not apply to federal employes."

The attorney general also cautioned that under the State Penal Law (Section 759) "a person or corporation refusing an employe time of for voting or subjecting the employe to a penalty or a reduction in wages because of the exercise of his privilege, is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine up to $500 or imprisonment up to a year, or both."

Smith Is Elected

Elmira, Oct. 29 (AP)—Leland D. Smith of Brasher Falls yesterday was reelected master of the New York State Grange. Also reelected at the state group's 81st annual meeting here were Harold M. Stanley of Skaneateles, secretary, and John W. Kleis of Hamburg, treasurer.

The seven-mile San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge is rated as the longest in the world.

Leaves Make Good Garden Compost

Geneva — The chore of raking up fallen leaves need not be just a matter of good "housekeeping" but may be put to use for next year's garden by converting the leaves into compost.

"First, put down a layer of leaves or fresh organic matter about eight inches deep and whatever size is necessary to build up a pile four feet high," says Cornell Professor Charles B. Sayre, head of the Vegetable Crops Division at the Experiment Station here.

"Over this layer of packed-down leaves spread three cups of a 5-10-5 fertilizer and two-thirds cup of limestone for each firmly packed bushel of compost material in that layer," he continues.

After watering this treated layer thoroughly, about one inch of good garden soil should be spread over the dampened and fertilized leaves to provide an inoculation of soil organism which will decompose the raw organic matter and form an excellent humus, explains Professor Sayre.

The process is then repeated, with alternate layers of leaves and soil, until the pile reaches four feet in height. The finished pile should be level on top or slightly depressed in the center so that rainwater will soak into it and not run off. In dry weather occasional watering will hasten the decomposition and formation of humus.

"A compost pile made in this way should be thoroughly decomposed in about six months and will make an excellent top-dressing to improve the soil structure and to raise the fertility level of the garden next year," concludes the Station scientist.

To Present TV Case

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Television newsmen said today they would lay before the Justice Department a carefully documented case for opening federal court trials to television cameras. Atty. Gen. The question came up at the concluding session of the 8th annual convention of the Radio-Television News Directors Assn. Jim Bormann of Minneapolis, head of the association's committee on freedom of information, had put in a plug for TV coverage of trials.

Leaves Make Good Garden Compost

Geneva — The chore of raking up fallen leaves need not be just a matter of good "housekeeping" but may be put to use for next year's garden by converting the leaves into compost.

"First, put down a layer of leaves or fresh organic matter about eight inches deep and whatever size is necessary to build up a pile four feet high," says Cornell Professor Charles B. Sayre, head of the Vegetable Crops Division at the Experiment Station here.

"Over this layer of packed-down leaves spread three cups of a 5-10-5 fertilizer and two-thirds cup of limestone for each firmly packed bushel of compost material in that layer," he continues.

After watering this treated layer thoroughly, about one inch of good garden soil should be spread over the dampened and fertilized leaves to provide an inoculation of soil organism which will decompose the raw organic matter and form an excellent humus, explains Professor Sayre.

The process is then repeated, with alternate layers of leaves and soil, until the pile reaches four feet in height. The finished pile should be level on top or slightly depressed in the center so that rainwater will soak into it and not run off. In dry weather occasional watering will hasten the decomposition and formation of humus.

"A compost pile made in this way should be thoroughly decomposed in about six months and will make an excellent top-dressing to improve the soil structure and to raise the fertility level of the garden next year," concludes the Station scientist.

To Present TV Case

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Television newsmen said today they would lay before the Justice Department a carefully documented case for opening federal court trials to television cameras. Atty. Gen. Brownell said yesterday he hopes something can be done to clear the way for televised trials, but he held out no prospect of early action. The question came up at the concluding session of the 8th annual convention of the Radio-Television News Directors Assn. Jim Bormann of Minneapolis, head of the association's committee on freedom of information, had put in a plug for TV coverage of trials.

The city registrar recently recorded the following births:

Estate Is Appraised

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—Emil Schwarzhaupt, the late president of the Bernheim Distilling Company, of Louisville, Ky., left a net estate of $6,987,569 and bequeathed $2,376,718 to charitable, religious and educational institutions, an estate tax appraisal showed yesterday. Schwarzhaupt, who died March 30, 1950, made 50 public bequests, the highest single amount being $250,000 to the University of Miami, Fla.

Polio Cases Continue Drop All Over State

Albany, Oct. 29 (AP)—A continued drop in the number of polio cases reported upstate is expected for the remainder of the year, the State Health Department said today.

Polio reached its peak during the week of Sept. 12—when 167 cases were reported—and has dropped off since then, the department said.

Last week, 105 cases were reported.

A total of 1,881 cases was reported between Jan. 1 and Oct. 24, the department said. This compares with 1,395 in the corresponding period last year.

No Cause Verdict Is Returned in Two Cases Tuesday

A verdict of no cause of action was returned Tuesday afternoon in the negligence action brought by Charles Frischling of Ellenville against Rubin and William Cohen. The jury also found no cause in the counterclaim of defendants.

Frischling asked damages for injuries suffered on May 27, 1952 when his car and that of defendants collided on Canal street as Frischling was allegedly entering his car. Defendants contended he was apparently leaving the car and opened the door as they drove past. The defendants alleged other cars on the street made it necessary for them to drive close to the Frischling car and they sought damages in a counter claim from Frischling. Plaintiff asked for damages and also to recover of 11 days he was laid up at home and for moneys expended over a period of 26 weeks after the accident when he was unable to attend to the work in his liquor store.

Kooperman and Kooperman appeared for plaintiff and Donald H. McCann for defendants.

Other Case Opens

A jury was selected in No. 336, and the case opened. James B. Crowell, Sr., as guardian for James B. Crowell, Jr., brings an action for property damage and personal injuries against Alan S. Hays and Thornton Smallwood as a result of an accident near Modena. It is alleged one of the cars stalled on the road and became involved in an accident with the other car. Crowell, Jr., was operating his car and riding alone. The Hay car was operated by Smallwood who was accompanied by a companion. Arthur E. Ames appears for plaintiff and Charlotte L. Smallwood with John J. McCourt as trial counsel appears for defendants.

This is the last week of the October trial term. The grand jury will report to the court on Friday.

The ferret is one of the few mammals which can be infected with human influenza.

Delivery Service

Mill Hall, Pa. (AP)—The Kiwansis Club of this central Pennsylvania community has set up a "GG Pony Express" to operate in case there is a polio outbreak. Upon learning there was no way of getting gamma globulin—the polio preventative serum—from Philipsburg, 60 miles away, the local service club swung into action. Now all a physician has to do when he needs GG is to contact one of the club officials and a member will be dispatched to drive to Philipsburg with authorization for the serum and deliver it to the physician.

Honest Taxpayer

McPherson, Kan. (AP)—A woman walked into the office of County Treasurer V. E. Swain and placed a $5 bill on the counter. "The assessors missed me," she explained, "and the $5 is my share of the county taxes." The conscientious taxpayer refused to give her name. To keep his records straight, Swain made out a $5 assessment on "Mrs. John Doe" and put the money in the county's general fund.

Crowell, Jr., was operating his car and riding alone. The Hay car was operated by Smallwood who was accompanied by a companion. Arthur E. Ames appears for plaintiff and Charlotte L. Smallwood with John J. McCourt as trial counsel appears for defendants.

This is the last week of the October trial term. The grand jury will report to the court on Friday.

Delivery Service

Mill Hall, Pa. (AP)—The Kiwansis Club of this central Pennsylvania community has set up a "GG Pony Express" to operate in case there is a polio outbreak. Upon learning there was no way of getting gamma globulin—the polio preventative serum—from Philipsburg, 60 miles away, the local service club swung into action. Now all a physician has to do when he needs GG is to contact one of the club officials and a member will be dispatched to drive to Philipsburg with authorization for the serum and deliver it to the physician.

Honest Taxpayer

McPherson, Kan. (AP)—A woman walked into the office of County Treasurer V. E. Swain and placed a $5 bill on the counter. "The assessors missed me," she explained, "and the $5 is my share of the county taxes." The conscientious taxpayer refused to give her name. To keep his records straight, Swain made out a $5 assessment on "Mrs. John Doe" and put the money in the county's general fund.

The residuary legatee is the Catholic Charities of the archdiocese and that was why the Messrs. Holy Joe and Boyle got into the act, which turned out to be a slaughter of lawyers and a dramatic lesson in the careful selection and generous compensation of lawyers to watch over rich old parties who fail to watch their step on the cellar stairs.

Congressman Klein is an intimate of Isidore Lipschutz, the refugee diamond merchant who runs a gum-shoe and personal spying service called the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League. Working through a few selected Democrats of the House and Senate, Lipschutz has caused two Americans to be sentenced to prison for contempt of Congress in refusing to tell congressional committees, for the benefit of the Lipschutz league, who subscribed money for their booklets. One of them, Dr. Edward A. Rumely, got loose on an appeal, but the other, Joseph P. Kamp, had to go to quod with a lot of Communists for his colleagues. Therefore, he is dedicated to the total obliteration of the Anti-Nazi League and the severest inconvenience to Lipschutz and his spies, sneaks and confessed thieves, if it takes him to his dying day.

Congressman Klein, among numerous others, let Lipschutz use his congressional frank to distribute propaganda and his secretary, Harold H. Buckles, now dead, was nailed as a Communist in a broadcast by Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, who drew prompt rebuke from the Daily Worker for that. Buckles was a hanger-on at the Lipschutz league and the Hon. Klein spends considerable time there, too, according to Mario Buzzi, once the chief sneak, spy, thief and liar of the outfit who now seems to have turned against them but may be only playing face-tag.

Eisenhower Favors

went on: "that applies likewise to other candidates who are running for office on the Republican ticket."

"Anywhere?" a reporter inquired.

"Yes," Hagerty replied.

"You are not naming Troast?" Sylvester inquired.

"We are not naming any one individual," Hagerty answered. He added that if he did it for one, he would have to do it for all.

Sylvester remarked there was only one other gubernatorial race this year—in Virginia.

Applies to New Jersey

Hagerty said then that his statement applied to the New Jersey and Virginia contests for governor and to special congressional elections coming up in California and New Jersey.

Hagerty had no comment when asked whether the Troast organization had requested a statement from the White House.

"I think it was obvious from the President's statement yesterday and the statement I make today," Hagerty said, "that we are for Republican candidates running for office."

He agreed that that was the the same position Eisenhower assumed during last year's campaign. In 1952, Eisenhower said he would support Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin for reelection "as a member of the Republican organization" but wouldn't give blanket endorsement to anyone "who does anything I believe to be un-American in method of procedures."

Eisenhower's statement yesterday that he likes posing for pictures with candidates and may pat some of them on the back, as well as publicizing the GOP record, pleased party members.

Age Hurts Minds

Hartford, Conn. (AP)—The longer you live, says Psychiatrist John Donnelly, the greater becomes the danger of mental illness. Dr. Donnelly, clinical director at the Institute of Living, says the rate for persons who are 50 years old is four out of 100. It jumps to six and a half persons out of a 100 at age 65.

Eisenhower Favors

went on: "that applies likewise to other candidates who are running for office on the Republican ticket."

"Anywhere?" a reporter inquired.

"Yes," Hagerty replied.

"You are not naming Troast?" Sylvester inquired.

"We are not naming any one individual," Hagerty answered. He added that if he did it for one, he would have to do it for all.

Sylvester remarked there was only one other gubernatorial race this year—in Virginia.

Applies to New Jersey

Hagerty said then that his statement applied to the New Jersey and Virginia contests for governor and to special congressional elections coming up in California and New Jersey.

Hagerty had no comment when asked whether the Troast organization had requested a statement from the White House.

"I think it was obvious from the President's statement yesterday and the statement I make today," Hagerty said, "that we are for Republican candidates running for office."

He agreed that that was the the same position Eisenhower assumed during last year's campaign. In 1952, Eisenhower said he would support Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin for reelection "as a member of the Republican organization" but wouldn't give blanket endorsement to anyone "who does anything I believe to be un-American in method of procedures."

Eisenhower's statement yesterday that he likes posing for pictures with candidates and may pat some of them on the back, as well as publicizing the GOP record, pleased party members.

Age Hurts Minds

Hartford, Conn. (AP)—The longer you live, says Psychiatrist John Donnelly, the greater becomes the danger of mental illness. Dr. Donnelly, clinical director at the Institute of Living, says the rate for persons who are 50 years old is four out of 100. It jumps to six and a half persons out of a 100 at age 65.

alch Says Dewey roup Whitewash f Racing Feared

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—Democratic State Chairman Richard H. lch says he fears the special te commission investigating rness race tracks is "out for a itewash rather than a thorgh-going job."

Balch accuses Gov. Thomas E. ewey, who appointed the probe mmission, of attempting to old the lid" on exposure of alged crime and corruption in estchester and Nassau counties, th predominantly Republican.

Balch made the charges in a tement issued at Democratic te headquarters here yestery.

Asks Democrats Be Named

Balch called on Dewey to apint Democratic special prosecus to supersede Republican Dist Attorneys Frank A. Gulotta Nassau and Samuel Faile of estchester.

"This is the only way that the me and corruption in these two unties will be cleaned up," lch said.

Yonkers Raceway in Westches- and Roosevelt Raceway in ssau have figured prominently the state probe of harness race cks. The two district attorneys ve been conducting their own eway inquiries.

Balch demanded that the state obe commission investigate the gam Corp., owner of the phyal property at Yonkers Racey, from the time it was orized.

To Send Questionnaire

The probe commission, which s required the state's eight asiations licensed to hold harss races to comply with a fincial questionnaire, announced sterday it also was sending a ilar questionnaire to the Alm Corp. Algam does not operracing.

Balch said in his statement:

"The state is alive with rumors garding the many powerful Reblican figures or members of ir families or close friends made o hold, or have held stock in gam. Reports are that some Canad these figures are close to the ecutive mansion itself."

whole Algam's president, J. Alfred lentine, later yesterday reused-u sed a list of names of more lutely in 500 persons or firms owning ck in Algam.

Not t Is Sufficient Proof

truly Balch said "the failure of the stchester district attorney to sent new evidence disclosed by Arthur Reuter in the mur- of John Acropolis to the nd jury is sufficient proof of d of appointment of a special secutor."

Reuter, Democratic candidate county judge, told Dewey he w of purported new evidence the murder of Acropolis, AFL on leader who was shot last r. Dewey ordered a grand y probe, and a one-day session s held Tuesday. Reuter apred before the jury. The jury nounced later it was dropping the investigation because of lack of evidence.

Acropolis shortly before his death had been attempting without success to organize employes of Yonkers raceway into an AFL Building Service Employes International Union headed by Thomas F. Lewis. Lewis was slain last August in his Bronx apartment house, and the murder still is unsolved.

The probe commission, which s required the state's eight asciations licensed to hold harss races to comply with a fincial questionnaire, announced sterday it also was sending a ilar questionnaire to the Alm Corp. Algam does not operracing.

Balch said in his statement:

"The state is alive with rumors arding the many powerful Reblican figures or members of ir families or close friends made o hold, or have held stock in gam. Reports are that some these figures are close to the ecutive mansion itself."

Canad Algam's president, J. Alfred whole lentine, later yesterday reused-u sed a list of names of more lutely in 500 persons or firms owning ck in Algam.

Not t Is Sufficient Proof

truly Balch said "the failure of the stchester district attorney to sent new evidence disclosed by Arthur Reuter in the murof John Acropolis to the nd jury is sufficient proof of d of appointment of a special secutor."

POLITIC Reuter, Democratic candidate county judge, told Dewey he w of purported new evidence the murder of Acropolis, AFL on leader who was shot last r. Dewey ordered a grand y probe, and a one-day session s held Tuesday. Reuter apred before the jury. The jury nounced later it was dropping the investigation because of lack of evidence.

Acropolis shortly before his death had been attempting without success to organize employes of Yonkers raceway into an AFL Building Service Employes International Union headed by Thomas F. Lewis. Lewis was slain last August in his Bronx apartment house, and the murder still is unsolved.

Kerhonkson Man Files Bankruptcy Petition

New York, Oct. 29 (Special)—A petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court here Tuesday by Arthur Stockin, a farmer of Kerhonkson, employed there by William Anderson. Mr. Stockin was in partnership with Henry M. Seymour in the sale of farm equipment from July, 1951 to July, 1952.

He lists liabilities totaling $33,566, of which $22,588 represents secured debts. His assets amount to $2,225.

Among his chief creditors presenting secured claims are the Kingston Savings Bank owed $11,500, Verna Anderson of Accord, $5,100, and Henry C. Seymour of Kerhonkson, $2,031.

Goth and Herms of Kerhonkson are owed $1,268, unsecured.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

The Ruminator thinks sometimes we should have had Gertrude Stein write us a definition of the dollar. For example, a dollar is a dollar is a dollar.

Certainly, this contrarian can think of no definition more necessary to clarify present-day economic thought than a realistic understanding of what the dollar is.

It is all right with me if the pundits wish everlastingly to talk about the "55-cent dollar" (or whatever price tag they wish to attach to it)—but to some hundred-million-plus concumers "a dollar is a dollar is a dollar."

Mrs. Housewife and Mr. Jack-of-all-Trades feel in their pocketbooks for folding money. The pieces of green-tinted paper with large figures in the corners are dollars to them, not 55-cent pieces.

Admittedly it takes more pieces of paper to buy goods—but there are more pieces of paper in pocketbooks.

Human psychology being what it is (and it would be wonderful if we really know what it is and how it would react to given events)—humans being what they are like the feel of a lot of folding money.

It is accurate to say, I think, that people generally prefer to have (and receive) a large quantity of money with low purchasing power than smaller amounts of worth-more money. (If we should experience a period of sharp deflation you will quickly learn how unappreciative people will be of the increased purchasing power of their dollars!)

You don't see folks complaining, do you, because they have to pay $3,000 for a car they like? In fact, you see them demanding three—or four—hundred extras in added equipment. Actually, when you come down to it, the average chap gets a big kick out of the fact that he is driving a three-thousand-dollar automobile. He feels much richer than when he owned the same make at half the price.

So I contrarily suggest that we stop eternally converting every statistic and every price tag in to "old" dollars.

Memories are short. Darn few people think back as far as 1939, or 1933, against which times present dollars are often measured. Certainly hardly anyone harks back to 1926, which has been accepted as a perfectly balanced price-and-dollar era. But wait a moment: Back there in 1926 they were using the 1913-1914 level as the proper measuring rod for the value of the dollar.

I don't believe there is a man in Washington today, who is making speeches about "a sound dollar," who doesn't believe down inside that the dollar will get cheaper, not dearer, as the years go by. Of course, I can't prove this assertion, but I'd wager it is true if there were any way to prove it.

You can educate the masses over a long stretch of time (through propaganda and other means) to accustom themselves to a given mode of living, or to a given theory. Nothing is simpler to "put over" than "easy money." It has been done down through the ages time and again. It always catches on. There is something about the idea of "more money" that appeals to everyone. Never mind what the money buys, just give people more of it, and they'll be contented—for a while. When the idea wears off, give 'em more money. Simple, isn't it? You'll find your history books full of these more-money stories. Just look up what that old master of easy money, John Law, did back in 1719-1720, in France.

But—when you try to reverse the easy-money process quickly, then there's the deuce to pay. We have had a small sample of it this year. Earlier in the year the government put out a bond with an interest rate which, coupled with talk about "hard money," scared everybody to death. Even the conservatives were shocked. A business magazine cleverly quipped "it is all right to put on the brakes, but don't throw us through the windshield."

Let us keep our time element straight in this dollar talk. Twenty years of easy money and padding the pay envelopes develops habits. Also, in 20 years a great number of people grow up who never knew the old dollar at all. (What does a kid care about a penny?) When you talk to them about the "1933 dollar" they don't even know what you're talking about.

So let's not think you can switch back something that spent 20 years maturing. A dollar is a dollar (in people's minds). It isn't 55 or 57½ cents.

Grapes, particularly the red Tokay variety, are priced to appeal to thrifty buyers.

Best on Vegetables

Best buys on vegetable counters in most areas include spinach, cabbages, onions and potatoes. Running a close second are cauliflower, peppers, carrots, broccoli, sweet potatoes and brussels sprouts. Want to try an avocado pear? They're plentiful and cheap right now, especially in the eastern half of the country. Artichokes and cucumbers are lower than a week ago; beans, squash and tomatoes a little higher.

If you've had difficulty finding Idaho potatoes at your favorite food store, here's the reason: With spuds generally in surplus supply, prices received by farmers for the big Idaho variety are only about half what they were last year. So growers are holding back a large part of the crop and putting it into storage.

With the Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index at its lowest point in six months, there's a chance that the family food bill may taper off just a shade when and if the wholesale reductions are reflected at the retail level. Bear in mind, however, that the wholesale price index is still 2½ per cent higher than a year ago.

The Long Memory

Salt Lake City (AP)—Jack Kogut, a wrestler who doubles in glass behind a bar here, is trying to forget about his memory. And his sister only smiles at the oldie about a needle in a haystack. The sister, newlywed Mrs. Estelle Lake of Los Angeles, passed through Salt Lake on her honeymoon, hoping to find her brother whom she hadn't seen in 12 years. Arriving, her husband grew thirsty for a beer. So the pair stopped at—the bar Kogut was working in. Mrs. Lake recognized her brother right away. But Kogut, who enjoys a local reputation as the "man who never forgets a face," was unable to recognize his sister.

Santa Claus Will Arrive by Plane Sunday, Nov. 22

With Christmas only two months away Joseph E. Scott of Scott's, Inc., Wall street women's shop, has already received a message from Santa Claus which will interest the children as well as parents.

Santa Claus will arrive by plane at the Kingston-Ulster Airport on Sunday, November 22, at 3 p. m., weather permitting, and Santa clad in his red velvet suit, red cap and his flowing white beard will be ready to accept messages from local kiddies who may have prepared their Christmas lists. Scott said he would be at the airport to welcome Santa and gift lists may be presented to him at the airport for personal delivery to Santa.

Three years ago Santa Claus was met at the airport by a crowd estimated at 5,000 people when he arrived by plane at the invitation of Scotts, Inc., and the visit this year is expected to bring out another record crowd.

Best on Vegetables

Best buys on vegetable counters in most areas include spinach, cabbages, onions and potatoes. Running a close second are cauliflower, peppers, carrots, broccoli, sweet potatoes and brussels sprouts. Want to try an avocado pear? They're plentiful and cheap right now, especially in the eastern half of the country. Artichokes and cucumbers are lower than a week ago; beans, squash and tomatoes a little higher.

If you've had difficulty finding Idaho potatoes at your favorite food store, here's the reason: With spuds generally in surplus supply, prices received by farmers for the big Idaho variety are only about half what they were last year. So growers are holding back a large part of the crop and putting it into storage.

With the Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index at its lowest point in six months, there's a chance that the family food bill may taper off just a shade when and if the wholesale reductions are reflected at the retail level. Bear in mind, however, that the wholesale price index is still 2½ per cent higher than a year ago.

The Long Memory

Salt Lake City (AP)—Jack Kogut, a wrestler who doubles in glass behind a bar here, is trying to forget about his memory. And his sister only smiles at the oldie about a needle in a haystack. The sister, newlywed Mrs. Estelle Lake of Los Angeles, passed through Salt Lake on her honeymoon, hoping to find her brother whom she hadn't seen in 12 years. Arriving, her husband grew thirsty for a beer. So the pair stopped at—the bar Kogut was working in. Mrs. Lake recognized her brother right away. But Kogut, who enjoys a local reputation as the "man who never forgets a face," was unable to recognize his sister.

The big swing to new "miracle" fabrics—synthetics and blends—has made many irons hopelessly out-of-date—has made an entirely new kind of iron a necessity in almost every home. Hoover (makers of the famous Hoover cleaners) brings it to you—the iron that's years ahead in design because it's designed for use on these newer materials, as well as for the more familiar fabrics.

The New Hoover Steam or Dry Iron is a real investment—pays for itself with money you save on pressing bills. You'll have no more ironing "accidents" that can ruin an expensive dress, blouse or slip. And it will save you many minutes of time every ironing day.

STEAM PRESS suits, skirts, slacks. It's easy to keep them looking like they "just came from the presser's shop." With your Hoover, it's no trick to smooth the most stubborn woolens—set perfectly straight creases and pleats. Use it for steam blocking knitted garments, too.

STEAM FINISH dresses and blouses (ideal for delicate new synthetic materials) to keep them new looking longer. There's nothing like it for restoring the "fluff" of velvet and corduroy, or for finishing the seams of your home-sewn fashions to give them a real professional look.

DO ALL YOUR REGULAR DRY IRONING with absolute confidence that the Safety-Set Dial of your Hoover gives the right, safe heat for all fabrics—from the most delicate lingerie to the heaviest linens and work clothes. You'll also find the instant steam feature a big help when you come to an unevenly dampened spot.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Vulnerability Is . . . . Key to Bidding . . . .

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Vulnerability has an important effect on your willigness to bid at the sacrifice level. In today's hand, for example, West must decide whether or not to bid five diamonds when South stabs at four hearts, and West is influenced by the vulnerability.

West can't tell what will happen to five diamonds. (It can be made by careful play, as the cards lie, but from West's point of view five diamonds might easily be a very unsound contract).

He has a defensive trick or two against four hearts, and his partner may turn up with enough to beat that contract. It is all very borderlinish, and with equal vulnerability (or, certainly, if West were non-vulnerable against vulnerable opponents) West would bid five diamonds. With unfavorable vulnerability, West passes.

Four hearts should be made by South if he merely plays the hand like a bridge player. West wins the first trick with the king of diamonds and shifts to a trump. This gives South his chance to show whether or not he is a bridge player.

The correct play is to win the first trump in the South hand even though dummy's eight is good enough to hold the trick. And then South must lead his singleton club towards dummy's king.

If West happens to have the ace of clubs, he can take it and lead a second trump, but dummy's king of clubs will be established to make up for the loss of the ruffing trick.

If East happens to have the ace of clubs, he will be able to win the club trick but will be unable to return a trump; and South will be able to ruff out both of his remaining diamonds. Even if East takes the club trick and leads a spade, the defenders will have to set up both of dummy's high spades in the effort to reduce dummy's ruffing power.

South wouldn't have as good a chance for his contract if he won the first trump trick in dummy. He would then have to find a way to get out of dummy in order to ruff the losing diamonds, and South has no way of knowing which black suit will keep West out of the lead. The club lead towards dummy's king solves the problem.

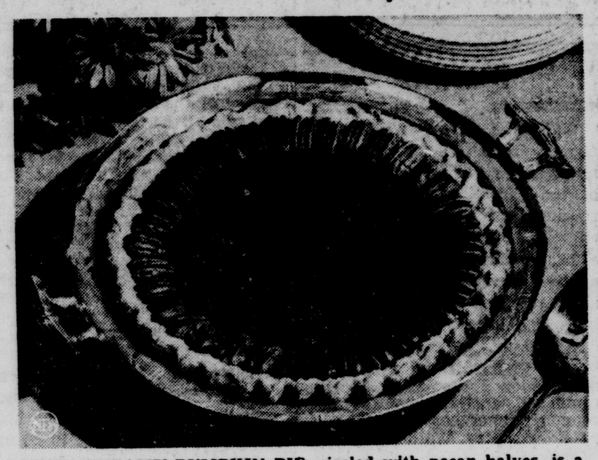
AMERICAN MENU

Combine Pecans, Pumpkin For a Delicious Holiday Pie



RICH, CREAMY PUMPKIN PIE, circled with pecan halves, is a holiday treat hard to match. Nuts add crunchy texture. ©

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

From Illinois cooks comes this recipe for one of the creamiest pumpkin pies we've ever eaten at our house. The pecan halves that encircle it give a pleasant consistency contrast and a welcome extra flavor.

Pumpkin Pie
(6 to 8 servings)

One teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ cup boiling water, 2 eggs, 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1¼ cups canned pumpkin, 1 cup evaporated milk, 3 tablespoons orange juice, 1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell, pecan halves.

Blend spices and water. Beat eggs slightly in top of double boiler. Add sugar, salt, pumpkin and spice mixture. Blend thoroughly, then stir in milk. Heat over boiling water to scalding point, about 3 minutes. Blend in orange juice. Pour immediately into unbaked pastry shell.

Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 minutes, then turn off heat and let pie remain in oven until filling is set, about 15 to 20 minutes longer. The heat retained in the oven will be sufficient to finish baking the filling. When ready to serve, place a circle of pecan halves around edge of filling. Makes 1 9-inch pie.

B'nai B'rith Goal Is 50 New Members In Month's Drive

A goal of 50 new members has been set by the Kingston unit of B'nai B'rith during the month-long membership drive scheduled for November, Richard M. Kalish, chairman, announced today.

During November, B'nai B'rith will approach every Jewish adult in Ulster county to join in the work of its men's lodges and women's chapters. With greater strength, we can move ahead to greater service," Chairman Kalish pointed out.

Assisting the local chairman during the month-long campaign will be Milton Dubin, Herman Eaton, Daniel Weisberg and Arthur Ewig.

Urges Cooperation

Rallying behind the idea, "B'nai B'rith Serves," the local chairman has mapped out an intensive drive to secure the goal of 50 new members.

"We are now in the process of organizing our membership teams," Kalish said, while urging the cooperation of all B'nai B'rith members in this special membership effort. "We know that B'nai B'rith really serves," he said, "and we are confident that most Jewish men and women will want to join with us, once they know the B'nai B'rith story. B'nai B'rith serves them, their families, their communities, their country and all of humanity."

Coincide With Anniversary

The intensive plans for membership month coincide with the period of B'nai B'rith's celebration of its 110th anniversary. During 11 decades of dedication, B'nai B'rith has become renowned for its work in fighting bigotry and promoting better inter-group relations.

Its activities on behalf of youth on college campuses, through the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations, and its program for youth of pre-college age have gained world-wide recognition. B'nai B'rith also has instituted important programs for the armed forces and disabled veterans and has supported numerous philanthropies and community projects.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Vulnerability Is . . . . Key to Bidding . . . .

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Vulnerability has an important effect on your willingness to bid at the sacrifice level. In today's hand, for example, West must decide whether or not to bid five diamonds when South stabs at four hearts, and West is influenced by the vulnerability.

West can't tell what will happen to five diamonds. (It can be made by careful play, as the cards lie, but from West's point of view five diamonds might easily be a very unsound contract).

He has a defensive trick or two against four hearts, and his partner may turn up with enough to beat that contract. It is all very borderlinish, and with equal vulnerability (or, certainly, if West were non-vulnerable against vulnerable opponents) West would bid five diamonds. With unfavorable vulnerability, West passes.

Four hearts should be made by South if he merely plays the hand like a bridge player. West wins the first trick with the king of diamonds and shifts to a trump. This gives South his chance to show whether or not he is a bridge player.

The correct play is to win the first trump in the South hand even though dummy's eight is good enough to hold the trick. And then South must lead his singleton club towards dummy's king.

If West happens to have the ace of clubs, he can take it and lead a second trump, but dummy's king of clubs will be established to make up for the loss of the ruffing trick.

If East happens to have the ace of clubs, he will be able to win the club trick but will be unable to return a trump; and South will be able to ruff out both of his remaining diamonds. Even if East takes the club trick and leads a spade, the defenders will have to set up both of dummy's high spades in the effort to reduce dummy's ruffing power.

South wouldn't have as good a chance for his contract if he won the first trump trick in dummy. He would then have to find a way to get out of dummy in order to ruff the losing diamonds, and South has no way of knowing which black suit will keep West out of the lead. The club lead towards dummy's king solves the problem.

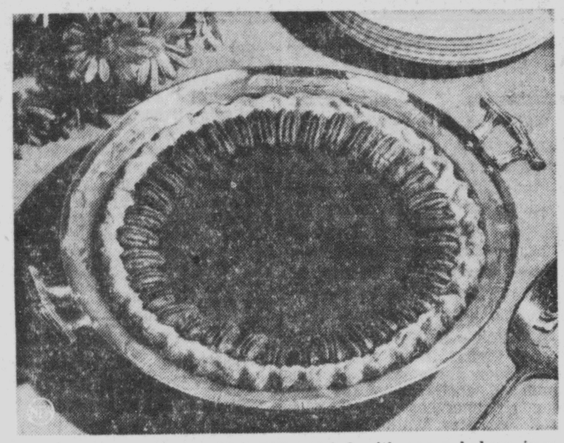
Combine Pecans, Pumpkin For a Delicious Holiday Pie



RICH, CREAMY PUMPKIN PIE, circled with pecan halves, is a holiday treat hard to match. Nuts add crunchy texture. ©

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

From Illinois cooks comes this recipe for one of the creamiest pumpkin pies we've ever eaten at our house. The pecan halves that encircle it give a pleasant consistency contrast and a welcome extra flavor.

Pumpkin Pie
(6 to 8 servings)

One teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ cup boiling water, 2 eggs, 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1¼ cups canned pumpkin, 1 cup evaporated milk, 3 tablespoons orange juice, 1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell, pecan halves.

Blend spices and water. Beat eggs slightly in top of double boiler. Add sugar, salt, pumpkin and spice mixture. Blend thoroughly, then stir in milk. Heat over boiling water to scalding point, about 3 minutes. Blend in orange juice. Pour immediately into unbaked pastry shell.

Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 minutes, then turn off heat and let pie remain in oven until filling is set, about 15 to 20 minutes longer. The heat retained in the oven will be sufficient to finish baking the filling. When ready to serve, place a circle of pecan halves around edge of filling. Makes 1 9-inch pie.

THANKSGIVING DINNER: Grapefruit halves with maraschino cherries, celery and olives, roast turkey, celery stuffing, giblet gravy, raw cranberry and orange relish, surprise baked potatoes, corn fritters, green beans with sauteed almonds, heated rolls, butter or margarine, lettuce, onion and beet salad, French dressing, pumpkin pie with pecans, Cheddar cheese, coffee, milk.

Bird Mimic

The mockingbird actually improves on the music of other birds and is more melodious than the nightingdale. It has a greater variety of notes, and the gift of musical composition.

B'nai B'rith Goal Is 50 New Members In Month's Drive

A goal of 50 new members has been set by the Kingston unit of B'nai B'rith during the month-long membership drive scheduled for November, Richard M. Kalish, chairman, announced today.

During November, B'nai B'rith will approach every Jewish adult in Ulster county to join in the work of its men's lodges and women's chapters. With greater strength, we can move ahead to greater service," Chairman Kalish pointed out.

Assisting the local chairman during the month-long campaign will be Milton Dubin, Herman Eaton, Daniel Weisberg and Arthur Ewig.

Urges Cooperation

Rallying behind the idea, "B'nai B'rith Serves," the local chairman has mapped out an intensive drive to secure the goal of 50 new members.

"We are now in the process of organizing our membership teams," Kalish said, while urging the cooperation of all B'nai B'rith members in this special membership effort. "We know that B'nai B'rith really serves," he said, "and we are confident that most Jewish men and women will want to join with us, once they know the B'nai B'rith story. B'nai B'rith serves them, their families, their communities, their country and all of humanity."

Coincide With Anniversary

The intensive plans for membership month coincide with the period of B'nai B'rith's celebration of its 110th anniversary. During 11 decades of dedication, B'nai B'rith has become renowned for its work in fighting bigotry and promoting better inter-group relations.

Its activities on behalf of youth on college campuses, through the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations, and its program for youth of pre-college age have gained world-wide recognition. B'nai B'rith also has instituted important programs for the armed forces and disabled veterans and has supported numerous philanthropies and community projects.

H. A. Keator Made CC Director in Eatontown, N. J.

Hervey A. Keator of this city, who joined the Walter Reade enterprises after retiring as a lieutenant of state police, has been elected a director of the Chamber of Commerce of Eatontown, N. J., famous as the electronics center of the world.

Keator, who sill maintains a local residence at 288 Broadway, is manager of the Walter Reade Drive-in at Eatontown, which remains open all year. Heat is furnished, Manager Keator said.

Announcement of Keator's election to the board of directors of the Eatontown chamber said that the organization felt his progressive ideas and civic spirit would be very helpful in promotion of its program activities.

Before leaving Kingston for Eatontown, Keator was manager of the Walter Reade 9W Drive-in for three seasons, and also served for a time as manager of the Broadway Theatre.

"I'm very happy in theatre business," said the former state cop, "and it is a pleasure to be associated with the Reade interests."

Attracted to Show World

During his years with the state police, Keator supervised patrols around fairs and other events, which brought him close to the show world. "Show business grew on me, it seems," he told a reporter friend, "and when I finished my service with the troopers, I welcomed the chance to join Walter Reade."

Reade looks upon Keator as one who knows the theatre business from the ground up, he having started as a patrol supervisor for traffic outside the local 9W drive-in. Keator was quick to grasp the various technicalities of the business and knows every angle from turning on the lights to handling promotion for the biggest shows offered to the public by Reade.

Keator said he maintains his Kingston residence "because I've always liked the city and am proud to call it my home."

Engineers' Convention

Victims of War in Korea

The Army released this photo in Washington Oct. 28 and said it shows the bodies of about 12 women, some of the 65 political prisoners of the Communist-led North Korean army found dumped down wells in Hamhung, Korea. (U.S. Army Photo via AP Wirephoto).

Halloween Parties Scheduled at YM

Two Halloween parties are scheduled at the YMCA Youth Center, it has been announced, one Friday and the other on Saturday.

A party for those of junior high school age will be held by the Friday Nighters Club of boys and girls on October 30 starting at 7 p. m., and ending at 10:30.

The Halloween party for boys and girls of high school age is scheduled October 31 and will last from 7:30 to 11:30 p. m.

Lou Schafer and George McElroy of the Y staff are planning a program that they intend to be the liveliest and most sociable ever held.

There will be guessing contests, games, basketball, and dancing also refreshments.

Prizes will be given for the best dressed boy and best dressed girl, also for the most comical costumes. Awards are to be made, too, for winners in the games and contests.

Secretary Schafer announced that the entire building will be open to the youth groups for the Halloween frolics, and he said that he anticipates an attendance of more than 650 for the social programs.

It is estimated that the United States dog population grew from about 20 million to about 22½ million between 1947 and 1953.

Broken Flange Is Cause of Wreck on W. Shore Tuesday

A broken flange on the lead truck of a box car was believed to be the cause of the derailment of seven cars in a West Shore freight train at West Point Tuesday, is was learned today.

The 97-car freight was hauled by a three-unit Diesel, was west bound from Weehawken when the cars derailed at about 2:30 p. m., after the forward part of the train had entered the tunnel north of the West Point station.

A combination waiting room and office used by Capt. Ernest Bersin was demolished and the captain's car was damaged.

Buses were used to transport passengers around the wreck until the tracks were cleared.

Early Wednesday morning two train crewmen were injured when a Diesel unit and 56 cars of two New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, were derailed near Maybrook. The wreckage was sprawled along 100 yards of track.

May Increase Rates

Albany, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Public Service Commission today authorized nearly 600 upstate trucking firms to increase rates by eight per cent effective Nov. 10. The permission was given to the New York Motor Carrier Conference Inc., which acts as agent for approximately 600 trucking companies. The PSC said the increase would go to nearly all of the companies. The conference represents truckers in the area north of a line running roughly between Saugerties and Hancock, Delaware county.

Sailor Is Killed

Chicago, Oct. 29 (AP) — A lake tanker loaded with 500,000 gallons of gasoline exploded in Lake Michigan today, killing one crewman and injuring two others. Eight others aboard the tanker escaped. The boat, the Blue Comet, burst into flames in Calumet harbor, off 92nd street. Coastguardsmen removed the dead man, the injured, other members of the crew and the skipper, Capt. Charles Quarry.

Power Line Destroyed

Kearny, N. J., Oct. 29 (AP)—A loaded gasoline truck collided with a provisions truck today, caught fire and burned out a major power line which knocked three radio stations off the air and cut off all power to two communities. No one was injured. The crash and fire also damaged a Jersey City water supply pipe, and blocked off Belleville Turnpike for miles in each direction.

released because of the impact on parents, wives and other relatives of men reported dead or missing.

Identified Mistakenly

Officials know that pictures of dead and wounded men often are mistakenly identified by grief-stricken relatives. No names were used, of course.

Some of the reports on cases read like these:

A massacre: "The captives were then escorted to a nearby orchard where their boots and dogtags were removed and all their personal property confiscated. The prisoners' hands were tied behind them with either wire or their own bootlaces. For two days they were kept hidden in ravines during the day and forced to march at night. Suddenly on the afternoon of 17 August 1950, without warning, their North Korean guards opened fire upon these bound victims and then left the scene. Thirty-four American soldiers were slaughtered in this massacre."

The Seoul-Pyongyang death march: "On 26 September 1950, Korea added its counterpart to the infamous Bataan death march involving approximately 376 American prisoners of war. Only 296 survivors completed this two-week horror hike."

Bamboo Spear Case

The bamboo spear case: "During December 1950, a South Korean patrol discovered the bodies of five American airmen near Muju. It was apparent from the condition of the remains that the victims had been subjected to fiendish torture, the flesh being perforated with multiple punctures, apparently inflicted by sharpened sticks or bamboo spears."

The prospect that any war criminals would be brought to trial is remote. Out of the accumulation of evidence, rumors, accusations and confessions by captured enemy soldiers the army has prepared material for trial in 43 cases.

But accused, as well as some witnesses, have gone from American hands. Some of them were released in the exchange of war prisoners last summer. Others disappeared in the mass breakouts from war prisoner camps last June.

Even before then, however, there was a fear that, if any Communist prisoners were prosecuted for war crimes, the Reds would retaliate by punishing the American and other allied prisoners they held before the exchange of captives.

Sen. Potter (R.-Mich.), in San Francisco now, is reported quietly picking up eyewitness accounts of Communists' atrocities for use in televised public hearing to start in early December.

Potter is said to have White House and State Department blessings for his plans to stage the hearings as a one-man task force for the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Plane Is Overdue

Redwood City, Calif., Oct. 29 (AP)—The sheriff's office said an inbound British Commonwealth Pacific Airlines plane, with 19 persons aboard, was reported missing shortly before its scheduled arrival from Honolulu today. The big DC6 four engined plane reportedly disappeared somewhere in the 12 miles between Half Moon Bay and San Francisco International Airport. The sheriff's office dispatched many officers in automobiles to search the coastal area.

a state racing commission with vastly increased powers to supervise track operations. This would include the right to audit track books, inspect track ownership records and supervise track labor relations."

A more powerful state commission with similar expanded supervisory powers recently was recommended to the governor by the State Harness Racing Commission.

The commission began an investigation of harness tracks conditions but later was superceded by a three-man Moreland Act Commission, appointed by Dewey.

Reds Promise

But no one here believed they would.

Thimayya's announcement of a "surprise" was made to newsmen at the end of a two hour NNRC session in which commission members discussed methods of investigating alleged crimes by prisoners inside the barbed wire prison stockades.

The crimes include the murder of three POWs reported by the Indian command Wednesday.

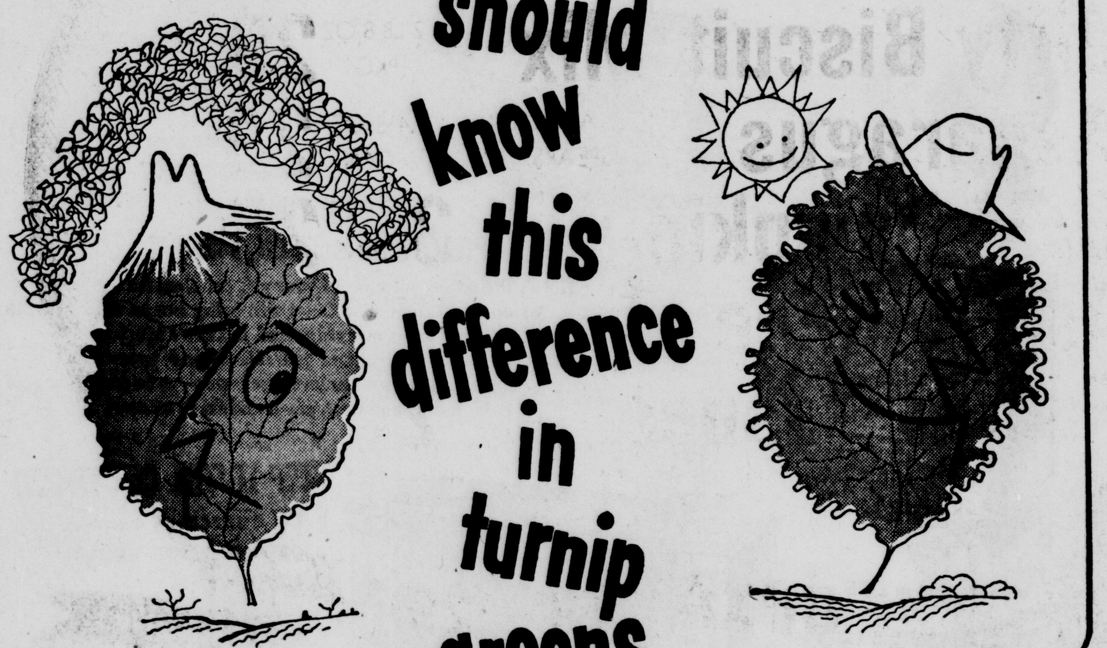
you should know this difference in turnip greens



THE TOLERABLE KIND

Always ask a turnip green—"Where y'all from?" You can just about tell how good it is from the name of the town nearest the farm on which it was raised. For some odd reason, land and climate seem to make all the difference between turnip greens that are super-delicious and turnip greens that merely get a rating of tolerable. There's one sure way of getting the best, the super-wonderful kind.

THE SUPER-WONDERFUL

This delectable breed of turnip greens comes from the fabulous farm lands of Virginia's famed Tidewater country. Whether it's something with which this land is blessed, something extra in the mellow sunshine, something in the gentle caress of the tangy Tidewater air, we do not know. We know only that here grow the royalty of turnip greens, most wondrously flavored of them all. And these are the kind you get when the label reads "Dulany."

Obscenity Causes Dismissal of Two

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Two employes of radio station WWDC here were suspended last night because of an obscene word that got out of the station over a coast-to-coast hookup.

The incident occurred at the end of a commercial break in the news commentary program of Fulton Lewis, Jr., over the Mutual Broadcasting System network.

A station official said the announcer, completing his cut-in remarks, got no sound from his monitor receiver when Lewis came back on the air. He therefore believed wire trouble had developed on the line feeding Lewis' voice into the circuit. At the same time, the official said, he assumed his own microphone had been cut off as customarily occurs automatically at the moment of a switch-over.

Through some sort of failure, however, the station spokesman said, the announcer's microphone was still cut in and his expression of disgust over the supposed wire failure broke into the commentator's words.

The station did not give out the name of the announcer or that of the engineer handling the controls who also was suspended.

Network officials in New York said they were deluged with telephone calls from listeners after the incident.

Bellayre Lodge Bids To Be Opened Nov. 9

Bids for the building of a sewage disposal unit, water tank and lines outside of the new ski lodge building at the Bellayre Ski Center, Pine Hill, will be opened in Albany Nov. 9 at 1 p. m., Perry B. Duryea, New York State Conservation Commissioner announced today.

Bids will be on all labor and materials, and contractors may inspect contract documents at Bellayre, the office of the State Conservation Department, Arcade Building, Albany and the department's Catskill office in the National Bank Building there. The bids will be opened in the department's Albany office, and they will be received there up until the time of opening.

The men were convicted chiefly on the testimony and evidence of H. Harold Miller, former Catskill public accountant, and Ernest Zelnick a former Revenue agent of Kingston. Both were named as co-conspirators in the indictment but were not defendants in the trial. Zelnick pleaded guilty to extortion before the trial and Miller was convicted on the same charge last fall.

Evidence submitted at the trial showed the tax ring had extorted approximately $35,000 from 17 taxpayers in the upstate area.

A fifth man in the case, Edwin F. Rourke, of Albany, was acquitted of the charge.

On June 4, 1952, the President laid the cornerstone for the museum and later in the day opened his campaign for Republican presidential nomination.

Obscenity Causes Dismissal of Two

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Two employes of radio station WWDC here were suspended last night because of an obscene word that got out of the station over a coast-to-coast hookup.

The incident occurred at the end of a commercial break in the news commentary program of Fulton Lewis, Jr., over the Mutual Broadcasting System network.

A station official said the announcer, completing his cut-in remarks, got no sound from his monitor receiver when Lewis came back on the air. He therefore believed wire trouble had developed on the line feeding Lewis' voice into the circuit. At the same time, the official said, he assumed his own microphone had been cut off as customarily occurs automatically at the moment of a switch-over.

Through some sort of failure, however, the station spokesman said, the announcer's microphone was still cut in and his expression of disgust over the supposed wire failure broke into the commentator's words.

The station did not give out the name of the announcer or that of the engineer handling the controls who also was suspended.

Network officials in New York said they were deluged with telephone calls from listeners after the incident.

Bellayre Lodge Bids To Be Opened Nov. 9

Bids for the building of a sewage disposal unit, water tank and lines outside of the new ski lodge building at the Bellayre Ski Center, Pine Hill, will be opened in Albany Nov. 9 at 1 p. m., Perry B. Duryea, New York State Conservation Commissioner announced today.

Bids will be on all labor and materials, and contractors may inspect contract documents at Bellayre, the office of the State Conservation Department, Arcade Building, Albany and the department's Catskill office in the National Bank Building there. The bids will be opened in the department's Albany office, and they will be received there up until the time of opening.

Three Agents Are

wholly out of line."

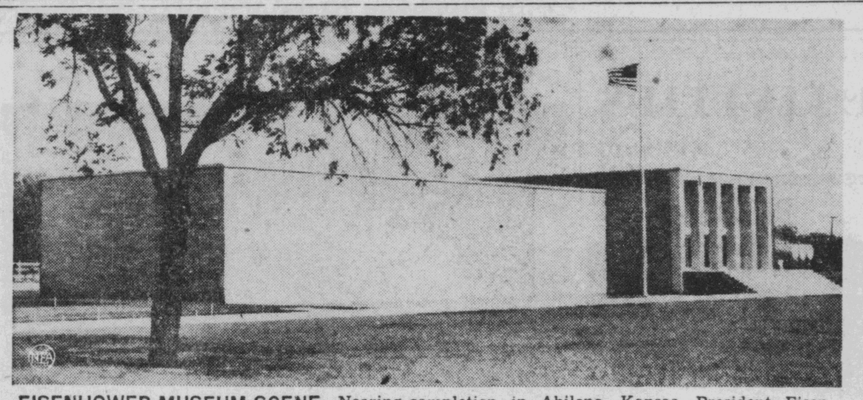
The men were convicted chiefly on the testimony and evidence of H. Harold Miller, former Catskill public accountant, and Ernest Zelnick a former Revenue agent of Kingston. Both were named as co-conspirators in the indictment but were not defendants in the trial. Zelnick pleaded guilty to extortion before the trial and Miller was convicted on the same charge last fall.

Evidence submitted at the trial showed the tax ring had extorted approximately $35,000 from 17 taxpayers in the upstate area.

A fifth man in the case, Edwin F. Rourke, of Albany, was acquitted of the charge.

Foresaw Flying

In a letter to a friend in France in 1774, George Washington predicted that some day men would fly from Paris to America, instead of sailing the ocean.



EISENHOWER MUSEUM SCENE—Nearing completion in Abilene, Kansas, President Eisenhower's home town, is the museum that will house the Chief Executive's war trophies and mementoes, valued at a million dollars. The structure is being built by the Eisenhower Foundation, which expects to open it to the public in 1954. On June 4, 1952, the President laid the cornerstone for the museum and later in the day opened his campaign for Republican presidential nomination.

Angel Street Is Thrilling and Polished Play Given by Coach House Players, Inc.

JEAN JONES

JULES VIGLIELMO

The Coach House Players have presented another professional-type production in their newest play, Angel Street. The first performance was given last night at the George Washington School, with the second scheduled for 8:30 p. m. today. From the first sound of Big Ben striking the hours to set the scene in gloomy London, to the startling ending, each player created a believable character to a spellbound audience.

Outstanding in her role as Mrs. Manningham was Jean Jones, who was in complete command of the stage from her first appearance. She gave a vivid portrayal of a wife being slowly and systematically driven mad. Every detail of the characterization was done with such a professional polish that only words of highest praise are in order. Not only did she dominate the scenes by rising to a pitch of emotion, but by the intensity of her expressed fears as the lights dimmed, drawing shudders from the viewers. Her variety of voice, gesture and expression has seldom been seen here on Kingston stages, and displays an actress of capability and intelligence. Her performance in this difficult role is a thing of art which was a thrill to behold.

Jules Viglielmo as the genial and kindly Sergeant Rough, the police inspector who befriends Mrs. Manningham, was in character from the beginning to the end. He was responsible for many well delivered humorous lines which were relief from the tense mood of the play. He caused the audience to shout out directions to him in one crucial moment, proving how completely they were in accord with the action. His role was authentic in each detail of expression, proving his degree of stage knowledge and experience.

As Mr. Manningham, Stanley London was properly menacing, solicitous, and over-friendly by turn, displaying his familiarity with theatre. His scenes with Mrs. Manningham were well done to give credence to her fears of the husband who accuses her of losing her mind. His ease with the role was in keeping with the standard of the entire play cast.

Marie Costello, as Nancy, the flirtatious maid, was saucy and pert, making full use of her rich voice to give definition to the lines. Sally Gallagher, as Elizabeth, the maid so concerned over the fate befalling her mistress, gave a good account in her first appearance on the boards. She was especially good in a scene where only her expression conveyed meaning to the audience, when alone on the stage.

As always, the credit for the success of production must be given to Houston Richards, under whose capable guidance the play knitted together in a smoothly running pattern. The action was well planned and executed, with no possibility for full characterization of each person overlooked.

Settings and lighting played a most important part in this play, with split-second lighting changes needed to give the effect desired. These changes were carried out on cue in every case, aiding the smoothness of the production. The set was well done with the furnishings and placement of props supplying a perfect background for the action. Credit goes to Edward Guziak and Miss Maureen Rice for the lighting effects, and to Richard Becker, Irving Rose, and members of the stage crew, Dennis Brady, John Geary, Art Hansen and Ed Finn for completing the stage setting.

It's roses over the footlights to all who worked on making Angel Street the fine production it is.

Miss Louise Danford Weds John Stanforth In Recent Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Louise Danford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Danford of 115 Downs street, and John Thomas Stanforth of Foley, Minn., took place Saturday, Oct. 10, at 4 p. m. at the First Dutch Reformed Church. The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony.

Donald R. Romme was organist for the soloist, Mary Jo Haulenbeck in the selections, Until, Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee, and The Lord's Prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin fashioned with a molded bodice, gem trimmed illusion yoke, and long pointed sleeves. Her full skirt terminated in a long train. A three-quarter length veil of French illusion was secured by a double banded crown trimmed with seed pearls and iridescent sequins.

The honor attendant was Susan Danford, sister of the bride. She wore a gown of Arcady blue velveteen, styled with a draped bodice, halter neckline, and full floor length skirt. A tiny Spencer jacket and a shell type hat of matching velveteen completed her ensemble.

The attendants were Miss Margaret Danford, sister of the bride, Mrs. Merle Dudley, Conn., Miss Joan Lawrie Haynes of Rensselaer, and Jean Kowobus, Schenectady. They wore gowns of gold velveteen identical in style to that of the honor attendant.

The best man was William Watt of Farmingdale.

The ushers were T. Benton Sevison, Jr., cousin of the bride, Levittown; Richard Orford, Farmingdale, Frank W. Thompson, Jr., and William A. Roosa of Kingston.

A reception was held at Spindler's Resort Hotel for 75 guests immediately following the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of State Teachers College at Oneonta where she was a member of Theta Phi Sorority. She is a member of the faculty of Plainedge School.

TAKING PRECAUTIONARY STEPS

A letter today tells me: "The other day a friend of mine came to visit me with her young son. As I have many lovely knick-knacks around the room—which I know are a great temptation to small children to pick up and examine—I took those within his reach away, and put them where he could not get at them. I understand that this friend was highly insulted over this and told a mutual friend that she will not come to my house again. Will you please tell me if she has grounds to feel hurt?"

It seems to me that if her child is so perfectly brought up that she knows he will not pick up your lovely knickknacks, she should have been proud to be able to tell you so, instead of going away silently and feeling hurt.

Opening Dentist Office

Dear Mrs. Post: A very dear friend of mine whom I have known since childhood is preparing to open his own office. He is a dentist. Would it be proper to send him a present at this time? If so, can you give me some suggestions as to what would be proper to send.

Answer: Give him something for his waiting room—ash tray, subscription to a magazine, etc.

Grandfather's Ring

Dear Mrs. Post: My grandfather died recently and I inherited everything. Among the several pieces of jewelry was my grandfather's gold wedding ring. As I am going to be married soon at a double ring ceremony, I would like to know what you think about using this ring instead of having to buy another.

Answer: I think it would be a very reasonable sentiment, but it depends upon the feelings of your bridegroom.

Candy or Flowers?

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a bachelor and have been invited to dinner for the first time in the house of a friend of mine who was recently married. I met his wife just once. I would like to know if I should bring something for the hostess, such as a box of candy or flowers?

Answer: It is not necessary—in fact, not at all expected.

What should a girl have in her trousseau? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-5, "The Bride's Trousseau," includes a list of essential clothes and linens. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

The bride wore a suit of winter white wool, with white accessories. She carried an orchid and streamers of white pompons on a prayer book.

Mrs. R. B. Simpkins, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a brown worsted suit trimmed with velvet, and brown accessories. Her corsage was of red talisman roses.

James Tyrrell of Kingston was best man.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of Mrs. Simpkins, 33 Wall street.

For the wedding trip through the Pocono Mountains and to Washington, D. C., the bride wore a dress of aqua wool jersey, white wool jacket and black accessories.

The couple plan to make their home in Mt. Marion.

Miss Louise Danford Weds John Stanforth In Recent Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Louise Danford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Danford of 115 Downs street, and John Thomas Stanforth of Foley, Minn., took place Saturday, Oct. 10, at 4 p. m. at the First Dutch Reformed Church. The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony.

Donald R. Romme was organist for the soloist, Mary Jo Haulenbeck in the selections, Until, Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee, and The Lord's Prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin fashioned with a molded bodice, gem trimmed illusion yoke, and long pointed sleeves. Her full skirt terminated in a long train. A three-quarter length veil of French illusion was secured by a double banded crown trimmed with seed pearls and iridescent sequins.

The honor attendant was Susan Danford, sister of the bride. She wore a gown of Arcady blue velveteen, styled with a draped bodice, halter neckline, and full floor length skirt. A tiny Spencer jacket and a shell type hat of matching velveteen completed her ensemble.

The attendants were Miss Margaret Danford, sister of the bride, Mrs. Merle Dudley, Conn., Miss Joan Lawrie Haynes of Rensselaer, and Jean Kowobus, Schenectady. They wore gowns of gold velveteen identical in style to that of the honor attendant.

The best man was William Watt of Farmingdale.

Angel Street Is Thrilling and Polished Play Given by Coach House Players, Inc.

JEAN JONES

JULES VIGLIELMO

The Coach House Players have presented another professional-type production in their newest play, Angel Street. The first performance was given last night at the George Washington School, with the second scheduled for 8:30 p. m. today. From the first sound of Big Ben striking the hours to set the scene in gloomy London, to the startling ending, each player created a believable character to a spellbound audience.

Outstanding in her role as Mrs. Manningham was Jean Jones, who was in complete command of the stage from her first appearance. She gave a vivid portrayal of a wife being slowly and systematically driven mad. Every detail of the characterization was done with such a professional polish that only words of highest praise are in order. Not only did she dominate the scenes by rising to a pitch of emotion, but by the intensity of her expressed fears as the lights dimmed, drawing shudders from the viewers. Her variety of voice, gesture and expression has seldom been seen here on Kingston stages, and displays an actress of capability and intelligence. Her performance in this difficult role is a thing of art which was a thrill to behold.

Jules Viglielmo as the genial and kindly Sergeant Rough, the police inspector who befriends Mrs. Manningham, was in character from the beginning to the end. He was responsible for many well delivered humorous lines which were relief from the tense mood of the play. He caused the audience to shout out directions to him in one crucial moment, proving how completely they were in accord with the action. His role was authentic in each detail of expression, proving his degree of stage knowledge and experience.

As Mr. Manningham, Stanley London was properly menacing, solicitous, and over-friendly by turn, displaying his familiarity with theatre. His scenes with Mrs. Manningham were well done to give credence to her fears of the husband who accuses her of losing her mind. His ease with the role was in keeping with the standard of the entire play cast.

Marie Costello, as Nancy, the flirtatious maid, was saucy and pert, making full use of her rich voice to give definition to the lines. Sally Gallagher, as Elizabeth, the maid so concerned over the fate befalling her mistress, gave a good account in her first appearance on the boards. She was especially good in a scene where only her expression conveyed meaning to the audience, when alone on the stage.

As always, the credit for the success of production must be given to Houston Richards, under whose capable guidance the play knitted together in a smoothly running pattern. The action was well planned and executed, with no possibility for full characterization of each person overlooked.

Settings and lighting played a most important part in this play, with split-second lighting changes needed to give the effect desired. These changes were carried out on cue in every case, aiding the smoothness of the production. The set was well done with the furnishings and placement of props supplying a perfect background for the action. Credit goes to Edward Guziak and Miss Maureen Rice for the lighting effects, and to Richard Becker, Irving Rose, and members of the stage crew, Dennis Brady, John Geary, Art Hansen and Ed Finn for completing the stage setting.

It's roses over the footlights to all who worked on making Angel Street the fine production it is.

Speaker at Sorosis Describes Colorful Ancient Roman Ruins

Sorosis members heard a paper on The Ruins of Ancient Rome given by Mrs. Edward Rick, at the meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. Herbert V. W. Darrow, Josephine avenue.

Mrs. Rick began her talk with a description of the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius, when all things within an 11-mile radius were destroyed. In detail, she told of Pompeii, the lava covered city, undisturbed for many hundred years, until excavators began to work bringing to light the mode of life in 79 AD.

Continuing, Mrs. Rick said that the catacombs were subterranean caves or vaults underneath the city of Rome. Excavators are reasonably certain that there are at least six thousand where, in early times, Christians took refuse and held meetings

The Colosseum, a gigantic ruin, built originally as a place of amusement seating 87,000 and the Appian Way, built in 312 BC, which served as a patrician cemetery during the first part of its course, were included in word descriptions.

Mrs. Rick explained the phenomenon of the Leaning Tower of Pisa, built of white marble, which began to incline before it was one third of its height. The masonry was strengthened by iron clamps but it leans 13 feet from the perpendicular.

In closing, Mrs. Rick mentioned the Roman Forums and the Baths of Caracalla. The Roman Forums are many in number, but the Trojan Forum is considered the most beautiful. The Roman Forum marks the spot where the Senate had its assemblies, and the fate of the ancient world was discussed.

The Baths of Caracalla are the largest mass of ruins in Rome with the exception of the Colosseum. The huge walls are of red and orange brick, built to accommodate 1600 bathers at the same time. These buildings were opened to the public for the first time on July 14 of this year, Mrs. Rick concluded.

Mr. FitzGerald is a master sargeant in the U. S. Army and is stationed in the office of the Army Attache, American Embassy, Wellington, New Zealand. He is the son of Mrs. Edward D. FitzGerald of 89 Henry street, and the late Edward D. FitzGerald. Mrs. FitzGerald was the former Miss Betty Rae McCaleb, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin E. Durr, 15 Esopus avenue.

Speaker at Sorosis Describes Colorful Ancient Roman Ruins

Sorosis members heard a paper on The Ruins of Ancient Rome given by Mrs. Edward Rick, at the meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. Herbert V. W. Darrow, Josephine avenue.

Mrs. Rick began her talk with a description of the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius, when all things within an 11-mile radius were destroyed. In detail, she told of Pompeii, the lava covered city, undisturbed for many hundred years, until excavators began to work bringing to light the mode of life in 79 AD.

Continuing, Mrs. Rick said that the catacombs were subterranean caves or vaults underneath the city of Rome. Excavators are reasonably certain that there are at least six thousand where, in early times, Christians took refuse and held meetings

The Colosseum, a gigantic ruin, built originally as a place of amusement seating 87,000 and the Appian Way, built in 312 BC, which served as a patrician cemetery during the first part of its course, were included in word descriptions.

Mrs. Rick explained the phenomenon of the Leaning Tower of Pisa, built of white marble, which began to incline before it was one third of its height. The masonry was strengthened by iron clamps but it leans 13 feet from the perpendicular.

In closing, Mrs. Rick mentioned the Roman Forums and the Baths of Caracalla. The Roman Forums are many in number, but the Trojan Forum is considered the most beautiful. The Roman Forum marks the spot where the Senate had its assemblies, and the fate of the ancient world was discussed.

The Baths of Caracalla are the largest mass of ruins in Rome with the exception of the Colosseum. The huge walls are of red and orange brick, built to accommodate 1600 bathers at the same time. These buildings were opened to the public for the first time on July 14 of this year, Mrs. Rick concluded.

Edward FitzGeralds Attended Reception Given for VP Nixon

Mr. and Mrs. Edward FitzGerald were the guests of the American Ambassador to New Zealand, R. M. Scotten, at a reception honoring Vice President and Mrs. Richard Nixon during the vice presidential visit to Wellington on his current tour of the Far East.

Mr. FitzGerald is a master sargeant in the U. S. Army and is stationed in the office of the Army Attache, American Embassy, Wellington, New Zealand. He is the son of Mrs. Edward D. FitzGerald of 89 Henry street, and the late Edward D. FitzGerald. Mrs. FitzGerald was the former Miss Betty Rae McCaleb, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin E. Durr, 15 Esopus avenue.

Bienne, Switzerland (AP)—Gentlemen may prefer blondes, but Swiss watchmakers are partial to red heads — for purely scientific reasons. Each watch jewel—smaller than a pinhead—has an almost invisible hole bored in it. The Swiss have devoted years of research to finding an abrasive that will polish the inside of this hole to near-perfect smoothness. The solution, they found, is a strand of human hair. Not just any hair, however. Men's hair, they found, is too coarse. And a blonde's is too pliant, a brunet's too brittle. But a red headed girl's hair, they found, is just right.

Court Puts Name Of Mrs. Belmore on Election Ballot

Following a hearing before Judge Donald S. Taylor, the name of Marion Belmore has been ordered added to the official election ballot for voting Tuesday, Nov. 3, the Ulster County Board of Elections has revealed.

Mrs. Belmore is running on the Republican ticket in the Town of Ulster for the office of assessor, two years.

On Tuesday, October 27, the Board of Elections was served with an order to show cause why the name of Mrs. Belmore should not be added to the official election ballot.

It was reported today that the name was omitted by mistake from the certificate of nominations filed in the Board of Elections office.

Received Nomination

The original certificate of nominations filed in the Ulster County Board of Elections by the Republican Party of the Town of Ulster did not contain Mrs. Belmore's name. It appeared on the argument before the court, however, that Mrs. Belmore had actually been nominated at the Republican caucus in the Town of Ulster and that her name did appear on the certificate of nomination filed in the town clerk's office as verified by affidavits of James M. Krom and Rose Peters Oct. 27.

Accordingly, the ballots of the Town of Ulster are being corrected to contain Mrs. Belmore's name by the use of adhesive pasters on the ballot strip of the voting machine as directed by the court order.

It is believed that the ancient Phoenicians carried mastffis to England.

Court Puts Name Of Mrs. Belmore on Election Ballot

Following a hearing before Judge Donald S. Taylor, the name of Marion Belmore has been ordered added to the official election ballot for voting Tuesday, Nov. 3, the Ulster County Board of Elections has revealed.

Mrs. Belmore is running on the Republican ticket in the Town of Ulster for the office of assessor, two years.

On Tuesday, October 27, the Board of Elections was served with an order to show cause why the name of Mrs. Belmore should not be added to the official election ballot.

It was reported today that the name was omitted by mistake from the certificate of nominations filed in the Board of Elections office.

Received Nomination

The original certificate of nominations filed in the Ulster County Board of Elections by the Republican Party of the Town of Ulster did not contain Mrs. Belmore's name. It appeared on the argument before the court, however, that Mrs. Belmore had actually been nominated at the Republican caucus in the Town of Ulster and that her name did appear on the certificate of nomination filed in the town clerk's office as verified by affidavits of James M. McKrom and Rose Peters Oct. 27.

Accordingly, the ballots of the Town of Ulster are being corrected to contain Mrs. Belmore's name by the use of adhesive pasters on the ballot strip of the voting machine as directed by the court order.

It is believed that the ancient Phoenicians carried mastiffs to England.

Strike Against Papers Is Voted

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—A strike against major metropolitan New York newspapers at midnight Saturday has been voted overwhelmingly by more than 2,000 members of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union of New York City and Vicinity (Ind.).

Negotiations in the dispute are scheduled to resume today at 2:30 p. m.

The union announced that all-day balloting yesterday resulted in 1,981 votes for a strike and 84 opposed. Its members prepare the papers for mailing or deliver them to the newsstands

The strike vote was taken after union officials charged that the New York City Publishers Association, which represents the newspapers, had failed to make any offer during prolonged contract negotiations. There was no immediate comment from the association.

Issues Involved

The union is seeking an unspecified pay increase, a pension fund and other benefits. Sam Feldman, union president, said the present wage is $90.42 for a 37 to 40-hour week. The union wants a 35-hour week.

After the vote results were announced, union members were notified that a rank-and-file meeting for a "final report" on the contract negotiations would be held tonight.

Ives Is Appointed

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Sen. Ives (R-NY), long regarded as a friend of organized labor, today was appointed acting chairman of a Senate Labor subcommittee to study amendment of the Taft-Hartley Law. Chairman Smith (R-NJ) of the full labor committee announced the appointment. The late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) headed the subcommittee until his death last July. There have been indications the Eisenhower administration is aiming for enactment of some changes in the T-H Law early in the new session of Congress. The appointment of Ives at this time appeared designed to speed action.

Action to Collect $75,000 for Injuries StartedWednesday

An action to recover $75,000 for injuries was taken up in Supreme Court Wednesday afternoon following settlement of an action brought by James B. Crowell, Sr., as guardian for James B. Crowell, Jr., against Alan S. Hays and Thornton Smallwood.

Marie Trowbridge of Kingston and Millard Cox, Kerhonkson garage proprietor, bring actions against Elwyn Dennis of Kyserike and Mary and Leon Serpentine of Pine Bush to recover for injuries which they sustained on September 27, 1952, when the Serpentine car collided with a stock racing car which had been halted on the highway as it was being towed by the Dennis car, and then struck Miss Trowbridge and Cox who were standing on the shoulder of the road alongside the parked cars.

N. LeVan Haver appears for Miss Trowbridge and Mr. Cox. Cashin and Ewig appear for Dennis and Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appears for Mr. and Mrs. Serpentine.

Was Towing Car

On the evening of September 27, 1952, Miss Trowbridge along with another young woman were en route to Middletown in the Dennis car. Dennis was towing a stock racing car to races in Middletown. Millard Cox was following the Dennis car. Near a point where Route 17 and 302 meet Cox drove alongside the Dennis car and informed Dennis there was a fire in the stock car.

At that point the highway is practically level and straight for a considerable distance. Dennis stopped his car on the right lane of the two-strip road and went back to the racing car where an oil rag was burning. He threw it out and while in that act Miss Trowbridge and the other passengers in the Dennis car alighted and stood on the shoulder of the road to the right. Cox also came to the scene.

Contends Auto Clipped

In his opening to the jury Haver said at that time the Serpentine car, operated by Serpentine, came along the road at a fast rate of speed and clipped the racing car and then ran off to the right striking Miss Trowbridge and also injuring Cox.

Miss Trowbridge suffered a fractured skull, concussion of the brain, a broken leg and numerous other injuries. She was at the Middletown Hospital for some time and then brought to the Kingston Hospital. She was hospitalized for seven weeks and lost considerable time from her employment. Haver said the expenses had been over $800 for hospital bills, $700 for nurses and doctors bills and she lost $600 in wages. In addition to her expenses she seeks compensation for the pain and suffering and also for possible permanent injury.

Question on Lights

In his opening Haver said there was a light on the stock car up near the front, but whether it was lighted was in question. He said the towed car had obstructed the tail light of the Dennis car. The Serpentine car he alleges came along at a fast rate of speed and the operator had testified in an examination before trial he had not seen the stalled car until he was about 70 feet away. Haver charged that even wtih inadequate lights on the stopped car, Serpentine should have seen the object in time to have stopped if his lights had been adequate and he was looking and driving properly. Skid marks for 50 feet before the crash and the fact that the Serpentine car went 150 feet in the adjacent field after striking the people, Haver charged was evidence of negligence. He also charges Dennis with negligence in that there had been ample room to pull off the side of the road instead of blocking the highway.

Laid Up a Week

Cox suffered a leg and back injury and was unable to attend to his business for a week.

A motion to dismiss the action as against Dennis was made by Arthur B. Ewig at the close of plaintiff's opening and denied by Justice Taylor.

John M. Cashin, opening for the defendant Dennis, contended Dennis was faced with an emergency when notified of the fire. Highly combustible fuel used in the racing car, Cashin said, prompted quick action. He also stated there was a red light on the stock car and someone had a flashlight in addition to the burning rags which could have been seen by an approaching driver. Cashin held Dennis was not negligent and asked a no cause for action verdict against Dennis.

Blames Dennis

In his opening Andrew J. Cook, Jr., said Cox himself was partly responsible for the accident in that he had flagged down the Dennis car on a two lane road and he held Dennis was liable since he had not pulled to the shoulder or open field before stopping. Cook said the light on the side of the stock car was inadequate even if lighted. Serpentine was proceeding at a moderate speed, he charged, and was facing another car coming toward him with its lights on. He did not realize there was a car parked on the road until he was close to it because of the lights of the approaching car and the lack of proper taillights. Faced by an emergency Serpentine pulled to the right of the road toward the shoulder to avoid the car on the highway and the approaching traffic in the south bound lane.

Cook charged Cox and Miss Trowbridge had contributed to the negligence by leaving the car and standing on the shoulder of the road. He charged they would not have been injured if they had remained in the cars.

After the opening court recessed until 10 o'clock today when the case was to be resumed.

Settled Wednesday was No. 179, Mayflower Dolan against John A. Cooke, Jr., malpractice. Philip Korn for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendant.

Referred to an official referee was No. 369, Edward G. Schmidt and Gladys J. Schmidt against Frank Henkel, Jr., and others, reformation of a deed. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendants.

Jurors not on the case being tried were excused for the term with the thanks of the court.

Late Bulletin

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—The milk industry predicted today that a four-day strike in the metropolitan area was near an end and "there will be deliveries tomorrow morning." The strike of drivers and plant workers had cut off supplies to 12 million residents in the New York city area.

Says Order Was Given

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—A former Russian agent said today Premier Stalin in 1941 ordered all Soviet ambassadors to "become real bosses" and direct the intelligence of Kremlin agents abroad. Ismail Akhmedov, a former Soviet intelligence officer, who now uses the name of Ismail Ege, made his disclosure before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee headed by Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind). Ege said the top secret order was signed by Stalin and V. M. Molotov and was issued by the central committee of the Communist party in January, 1941.

Stockholders Named

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—Names of stockholders in Algam Corp., which owns but does not operate Yonkers Raceway, were made public last night. The long list of holders of stock in Algam was released by J. Alfred Valentine, president of Algam and executive vice president and general manager of the Old Country Trotting Association. The Old Country Trotting Association, an operator of Roosevelt Raceway, purchased a conrolling interest in August, 1952 in Algam, which is a real estate operating company owning the land and plant at Yonkers Raceway.

Strike Against Papers Is Voted

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—A strike against major metropolitan New York newspapers at midnight Saturday has been voted overwhelmingly by more than 2,000 members of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union of New York City and Vicinity (Ind.).

Negotiations in the dispute are scheduled to resume today at 2:30 p. m.

The union announced that all-day balloting yesterday resulted in 1,981 votes for a strike and 84 opposed. Its members prepare the papers for mailing or deliver them to the newsstands.

The strike vote was taken after union officials charged that the New York City Publishers Association, which represents the newspapers, had failed to make any offer during prolonged contract negotiations. There was no immediate comment from the association.

Issues Involved

The union is seeking an unspecified pay increase, a pension fund and other benefits. Sam Feldman, union president, said the present wage is $90.42 for a 37 to 40-hour week. The union wants a 35-hour week.

After the vote results were announced, union members were notified that a rank-and-file meeting for a "final report" on the contract negotiations would be held tonight.

Ives Is Appointed

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Sen. Ives (R-NY), long regarded as a friend of organized labor, today was appointed acting chairman of a Senate Labor subcommittee to study amendment of the Taft-Hartley Law. Chairman Smith (R-NJ) of the full labor committee announced the appointment. The late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) headed the subcommittee until his death last July. There have been indications the Eisenhower administration is aiming for enactment of some changes in the T-H Law early in the new session of Congress. The appointment of Ives at this time appeared designed to speed action.

Action to Collect $75,000 for Injuries Started Wednesday

An action to recover $75,000 for injuries was taken up in Supreme Court Wednesday afternoon following settlement of an action brought by James B. Crowell, Sr., as guardian for James B. Crowell, Jr., against Alan S. Hays and Thornton Smallwood.

Marie Trowbridge of Kingston and Millard Cox, Kerhonkson garage proprietor, bring actions against Elwyn Dennis of Kyserike and Mary and Leon Serpentine of Pine Bush to recover for injuries which they sustained on September 27, 1952, when the Serpentine car collided with a stock racing car which had been halted on the highway as it was being towed by the Dennis car, and then struck Miss Trowbridge and Cox who were standing on the shoulder of the road alongside the parked cars.

N. LeVan Haver appears for Miss Trowbridge and Mr. Cox. Cashin and Ewig appear for Dennis and Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appears for Mr. and Mrs. Serpentine.

Was Towing Car

On the evening of September 27, 1952, Miss Trowbridge along with another young woman were en route to Middletown in the Dennis car. Dennis was towing a stock racing car to races in Middletown. Millard Cox was following the Dennis car. Near a point where Route 17 and 302 meet Cox drove alongside the Dennis car and informed Dennis there was a fire in the stock car.

At that point the highway is practically level and straight for a considerable distance. Dennis stopped his car on the right lane of the two-strip road and went back to the racing car where an oil rag was burning. He threw it out and while in that act Miss Trowbridge and the other passengers in the Dennis car alighted and stood on the shoulder of the road to the right. Cox also came to the scene.

Contends Auto Clipped

In his opening to the jury Haver said at that time the Serpentine car, operated by Serpentine, came along the road at a fast rate of speed and clipped the racing car and then ran off to the right striking Miss Trowbridge and also injuring Cox.

Miss Trowbridge suffered a fractured skull, concussion of the brain, a broken leg and numerous other injuries. She was at the Middletown Hospital for some time and then brought to the Kingston Hospital. She was hospitalized for seven weeks and lost considerable time from her employment. Haver said the expenses had been over $800 for hospital bills, $700 for nurses and doctors bills and she lost $600 in wages. In addition to her expenses she seeks compensation for the pain and suffering and also for possible permanent injury.

Question on Lights

In his opening Haver said there was a light on the stock car up near the front, but whether it was lighted was in question. He said the towed car had obstructed the tail light of the Dennis car. The Serpentine car he alleges came along at a fast rate of speed and the operator had testified in an examination before trial he had not seen the stalled car until he was about 70 feet away. Haver charged that even wtih inadequate lights on the stopped car, Serpentine should have seen the object in time to have stopped if his lights had been adequate and he was looking and driving properly. Skid marks for 50 feet before the crash and the fact that the Serpentine car went 150 feet in the adjacent field after striking the people, Haver charged was evidence of negligence. He also charges Dennis with negligence in that there had been ample room to pull off the side of the road instead of blocking the highway.

Laid Up a Week

Cox suffered a leg and back injury and was unable to attend to his business for a week.

A motion to dismiss the action as against Dennis was made by Arthur B. Ewig at the close of plaintiff's opening and denied by Justice Taylor.

John M. Cashin, opening for the defendant Dennis, contended Dennis was faced with an emergency when notified of the fire. Highly combustible fuel used in the racing car, Cashin said, prompted quick action. He also stated there was a red light on the stock car and someone had a flashlight in addition to the burning rags which could have been seen by an approaching driver. Cashin held Dennis was not negligent and asked a no cause for action verdict against Dennis.

Blames Dennis

In his opening Andrew J. Cook, Jr., said Cox himself was partly responsible for the accident in that he had flagged down the Dennis car on a two lane road and he held Dennis was liable since he had not pulled to the shoulder or open field before stopping. Cook said the light on the side of the stock car was inadequate even if lighted. Serpentine was proceeding at a moderate speed, he charged, and was facing another car coming toward him with its lights on. He did not realize there was a car parked on the road until he was close to it because of the lights of the approaching car and the lack of proper taillights. Faced by an emergency Serpentine pulled to the right of the road toward the shoulder to avoid the car on the highway and the approaching traffic in the south bound lane.

Cook charged Cox and Miss Trowbridge had contributed to the negligence by leaving the car and standing on the shoulder of the road. He charged they would not have been injured if they had remained in the cars.

After the opening court recessed until 10 o'clock today when the case was to be resumed.

Settled Wednesday was No. 179, Mayflower Dolan against John A. Cooke, Jr., malpractice. Philip Korn for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendant.

Referred to an official referee was No. 369, Edward G. Schmidt and Gladys J. Schmidt against Frank Henkel, Jr., and others, reformation of a deed. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendants.

Jurors not on the case being tried were excused for the term with the thanks of the court.

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—The milk industry predicted today that a four-day strike in the metropolitan area was near an end and "there will be deliveries tomorrow morning." The strike of drivers and plant workers had cut off supplies to 12 million residents in the New York city area.

Says Order Was Given

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—A former Russian agent said today Premier Stalin in 1941 ordered all Soviet ambassadors to "become real bosses" and direct the intelligence of Kremlin agents abroad. Ismail Akhmedov, a former Soviet intelligence officer, who now uses the name of Ismail Ege, made his disclosure before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee headed by Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind). Ege said the top secret order was signed by Stalin and V. M. Molotov and was issued by the central committee of the Communist party in January, 1941.

Two years of college will no longer be neccessary, and qualified high school graduates will become eligible for training.

The new policy change directed by higher headquarters opens new horizons in the Air Force for graduates between the ages of 19 and 26½.

Due to a current shortage of Air Force pilots, the Aviation Cadet Program will lower the educational requirements in an effort to swell the cadet classes.

Sgt. Carney said he had been ordered to give the procurement of aviation cadets top priority until further notice. Detailed information of the change has been received by his office to pass on to interested persons.

Four troops, comprising about 40 boys, participated in the competitive activities of the weekend. The competitive activities consisted of tower building by means of lashing, signaling and first aid. Troop 32 was the winner with 33 second and 31 third. The boys camped out over Friday and Saturday nights. The following leaders participated: Ken Maclary, Ken Smith, Harry Wianads, Walt Levy, Orville Whitaker and Emmet Maher.

KBA Directors to Meet Sunday at Court House

Revised Constitution, Tournament Plans Due

Definite arrangements concerning the operation of the 17th annual city tournament will be ironed out during a special meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Bowling Association Sunday, Nov. 1, at 2:30 p. m. at the Court House, Wall street.

Announcement of the special session has been dispatched to all league delegates and William R. Murray, KBA president, urges a full turnout of members.

In addition to the tournament discussions, league delegates or their alternates, will be polled on their attitude toward the proposed revised constitution as presented by the special executive board committee.

To Vote on Constitution

Several important additions to the constitution of the KBA have been made by the committee and it is urgent that all leagues be represented so that the revised constitution may go into operation at once.

Only paid up leagues may be represented and given the privilege to vote at Sunday's special session, it was pointed out today.

Working on the constitution committee have been President Murray as chairman, Bill Johnson, George Robinson, Herman Arlensky, Louis G. Bruhn and Irwin J. Thomas, the KBA secretary.

Tournament in February

The 17th annual city tournament will be run next February at the Bowlodrome alleys, as awarded at last month's meeting of the KBA's executive board.

However, more details concerning the tournament, including the type of play, costs and other matters, will be decided Sunday Sunday afternoon when the board members convene.

Castellani Shows Vast Improvement In Unanimous Win

Cleveland, Oct. 29 (AP)—Rocky Castellani, the modest Clevelander who is ranked No. 4 among the middleweights, showed tremendous improvement in winning a unanimous decision over tough Mickey Laurent here last night.

Although he appeared to have been hit with less than a dozen solid punches, Castellani volunteered afterwards:

"He was plenty tough and strong. He stunned me in the second round and he hit me with three or four stiff and solid punches."

Castellani's manager, Alvan Naiman, who says he has taken over the fighter "like he was my own son" since he moved to Cleveland last spring, isn't so modest.

Eyes Champion

"He would have taken (Champion Bobo) Olson," he broke in.

Naimam is hopeful he can line up a December bout here between Castellani and Paddy Young, another top-ranking middie, and then have his man tackle the champion.

Castellani was simply too strong and too clever all the way. He started Laurent's nose bleeding in the first round and the Frenchman's face was streaming with crimson during at least half the fight.

A crowd of 4,686 paid $9,366 to see the nationally televised bout in Cleveland Arena. Referee Tony La Branch scored it 9-0-1, Judge Herb Williams 8-02 and Judge Charley Bill 8-2-0. Laurent, at 158½, had a half-pound weight edge.

Arlington Trips JVs By 14 to 6

The Smiths and Joneses of Arlington High's Jayvee football squad teamed up to whip the KHS Jayvees, 14-6, yesterday at the Dutchess county grid.

Cliff Smith, Arlington quarterback, completed two scoring passes to Bill Jones and the pair collaborated on two extra points on aerials to account for the Arlington output.

Arlington scored its first TD in the second quarter when Smith hit Jones from the 3 and the pair repeated for the conversion. That made it 7-0 at the half.

Neil Keyser romped 25 yards up the middle for Kingston's lone TD in the third period, but Arlington marched 70 yards with a 40-yard payoff pass by the Smith-Jones combination in the fourth quarter.

Million-Dollar Remodeling Job Is Underway on Busch Stadium

Hoople and Nussbaum Pick Poughkeepsie-Port Jervis

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
(Champion of Offense)

My word! How popular I am!

If this statement stuns you just a mite, let me hasten to explain that I am not just blowing my own horn. Zillions of my readers are doing it for me.

In other words, so many complaints have been pouring in concerning the variations between Dr. Cicero Zlobotny's system and the actual scores, that I have been constrained to make a change. Always remember that we Hooples have been disciples of change since the day of the Magna Carta!

I am scrapping Zlobotny in view of the crucial DUSO engagements head this weekend. I am again taking Dr. Etienne Nussbaum under my wing. Yes, gentle readers, we are once more applying his hypothesis of alphabetical averages as witnessed in alphabetical soup.

Harrumph! Now to the predictions in collaboration with the astiute Etienna, the many of many astounding upsets.

Picks the Blues

Nobody will beat Sam Kalloch's Blues until my good friend, Bill Burke, takes his marauding Maroons to Poughkeepsie on Nov. 14. Beating the crippled Middies of Middletown Saturday afternoon will be worse than robbing the poor boxes in church. By the precise calculations of the Nussbaum theory, the Blues will win 33 to 6! If not more. It all depends on how my friend Sam and his ace halfback, Johnson, are getting along that day.

The injury riddled Red and Black of Port Jervis has found a new spirit, my agents tell me and they should beat Newburgh's deflated Goldbacks by something like 13-0. But I must warn my good friend, Bill Burke, to beware of the glitter of the Goldbacks by Thanksgiving Day. They could be real tough.

And now before you make your weekly visit to crystal ball, gaze upon these startling predictions for the college football games this weekend.

Junior Riders In Many Events At Horse Show

Champions in four junior horsemanship divisions will be crowned on Nov. 7-8 in the 65th National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden. All contestants must be 18 or under.

A total of 113 young riders from 13 states have qualified for the four championship events, open only to those who have won similar competitions at recognized shows held prior to the National.

New York is represented by the most contestants with 41 and New Jersey is next with 34, both up from last year.

The Good Hands event in which riders are judged on their ability to handle a horse on the flat has drawn 25 juniors. Sixteen juniors will try for the AHSA saddle seat medal award and 18 for the hunter seat prize.

Aside from the equitation class, judged entirely on the ability of the rider, the 56th National, opening its eight-day run on Nov. 3, has drawn 139 entries in pony and junior hunter events, judged on the performance of the horse ridden by a junior exhibitor.

Baylor's Smith Lineman of Week

Waco, Tex., Oct. 29 (AP)—They swear big James Ray Smith is so modest that when he ambles across the campus at Baylor University only a handful of students know who he is.

But ask any of the players on the football teams of California, Miami, Arkansas, Vanderbilt or Texas A&M and they'll tell you—eloquently.

Smith, the 215-pound, 20-year-old junior who's a one-man wrecking crew on Baylor's unbeaten team, yesterday was named "Lineman of the Week" by the Associated Press for his magnificent play against Texas A&M last week.

Team Classed Third

It was the accuracy of his extra-point kicking—and all-around play—that gave the Bears a 14-13 victory and third place in the Associated Press national football rankings.

Smith grinned with pleasure when told of the honor, but promptly said he didn't deserve it.

"I don't believe it is quite fair to single out any one individual when it was necessary for every one of us to fight hard to win against a very fine team like Texas A&M," he said.

Everybody else around Baylor said it was not only fair, but it would have been a downright shame if he hadn't been selected.

Smith is averaging 55 minutes of play, handling the extra point kicking, and kicking off.

Finland is one of the most literate countries of the world says the National Geographic Society.

600 New Seats Due at Card's Park

St. Louis, Oct. 29 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, building for a National League pennant, are building from the ground up.

They're remodeling Busch Stadium—from top to bottom, from home plate to center field and from bullpen to bullpen.

Included in the face-lifting are new seats—measuring 21 inches across the beam as compared to the old 18 inch width—new dugouts, new player club houses and a new drainage system for the infield.

Also on tap in the million-dollar program—to be completed by opening day next spring—is a genuine garden in what once were the center field bleachers.

Present construction represents $650,000 of the over all cost. The balance was spent last season in giving the park a new paint job and on necessary structural repairs. The total cost is well over the $400,000-a-year maintenance estimate made by August A. Busch, Cardinal owner, when he bought the park last summer.

Took Over From Veeck

Sportsman's Park became Busch Stadium when Busch handed Bill Veeck and the late St. Louis Browns $850,000 and relieved them of ownership.

Heavy grading machinery, pipes, concrete chunks and a general junk yard view have turned the park into a wreck now. A 1,000-pound iron ball is hacking away at the upper deck in the greatest baseball breakup since Connie Mack dispensed with his million-dollar infield.

The upper deck will be extended to provide loges—six rounds of additional bax seats that will cost the fans $3 each. They replace a narrow row of chair seats that hugged the upper deck railing.

Field level boxes also will be extended into the foul territory stretching along the first and third base lines. Seats in the six rows will be $2.50 each, a quarter more than the old front line boxes.

33,853 Capacity

In all, 4,000 seats will be added. But the installation of the new, wider seats and more knee room between rows will allow only a 600-seat increase in capacity of 33,853.

The center field garden doesn't decrease the seating. Those seats were kept vacant to prevent a htting hazard provided by white-shirted bleacherites.

Red Sox Sub Catcher Tops Pinch-Hitters With 4 HRs

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—Del Wilber, a reserve catcher with the Boston Red Sox, belted four home runs as a pinch-hitter during the 1935 season to lead all major leaguers in that department, Associated Press figures showed today.

Wilber's output was only one short of the American League record set by Joe Cronin of the Bosox in 1934. The major league mark for one season is six by Johnny Frederick of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1932.

Grady Hatton of the Cincinnati Redlegs and Bobby Hofman of the New York Giants, a pair of utility infielders, topped the National League in pinch-hit homers with three apiece.

Johnny Mize, who closed out his brilliant career after the World Series, also walloped three for the New York Yankees. Wayne Belardi of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Eddie Pellagrini and Johnny Lindell of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Peanuts Lowrey of the St. Louis Cardinals, Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Ed Stewart of the Chicago White Sox each hit two.

All told, major league players accounted for 58 pinch-hit home runs during the year, 29 in each circuit. Only 38 were hit in the majors in 1952.

Army Battles Tulane in 2nd Trip to South

Army's surging Cadets venture into the southland for the second time in their 64-year football history on Saturday when they play Tulane at New Orleans.

In their only visit to the sunny south last year, the Cadets were taught a lesson by Georgia Tech in Atlanta to the tune of 45-6.

However, this is a different Army team that the Green Wave faces. Though humbled by Northwestern, 33-20, in the second game of the season, Army has developed rapidly with a thrilling 14-13 victory over Duke and the rout of Columbia last Saturday.

Pete Vann, the sensational passer, leads the Army attack but there is no overconfidence in the Cadet camp. Coach Earl Blaik's scouts still rate the Green Wave as potentially the finest team on the schedule.

"On a given afternoon," Blaik relates, "Tulane would be a match for any team in the country."

An anlysis of the Tulane squad would indicate that the coach is entirely correct. No fewer than 26 lettermen dot the roster of the Green Wave. Fifteen of these are two-year lettermen. Injuries to key players has hampered Tulane's progress thus far the season.

KBA Directors to Meet Sunday at Court House

Revised Constitution, Tournament Plans Due

Definite arrangements concerning the operation of the 17th annual city tournament will be ironed out during a special meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Bowling Association Sunday, Nov. 1, at 2:30 p. m. at the Court House, Wall street.

Announcement of the special session has been dispatched to all league delegates and William R. Murray, KBA president, urges a full turnout of members.

In addition to the tournament discussions, league delegates or their alternates, will be polled on their attitude toward the proposed revised constitution as presented by the special executive board committee.

To Vote on Constitution

Several important additions to the constitution of the KBA have been made by the committee and it is urgent that all leagues be represented so that the revised constitution may go into operation at once.

Only paid up leagues may be represented and given the privilege to vote at Sunday's special session, it was pointed out today.

Working on the constitution committee have been President Murray as chairman, Bill Johnson, George Robinson, Herman Arlensky, Louis G. Bruhn and Irwin J. Thomas, the KBA secretary.

Tournament in February

The 17th annual city tournament will be run next February at the Bowlodrome alleys, as awarded at last month's meeting of the KBA's executive board.

However, more details concerning the tournament, including the type of play, costs and other matters, will be decided Sunday Sunday afternoon when the board members convene.

Castellani Shows Vast Improvement In Unanimous Win

Cleveland, Oct. 29 (AP)—Rocky Castellani, the modest Clevelander who is ranked No. 4 among the middleweights, showed tremendous improvement in winning a unanimous decision over tough Mickey Laurent here last night.

Although he appeared to have been hit with less than a dozen solid punches, Castellani volunteered afterwards:

"He was plenty tough and strong. He stunned me in the second round and he hit me with three or four stiff and solid punches."

Castellani's manager, Alvan Naiman, who says he has taken over the fighter "like he was my own son" since he moved to Cleveland last spring, isn't so modest.

Eyes Champion

"He would have taken (Champion Bobo) Olson," he broke in.

Naimam is hopeful he can line up a December bout here between Castellani and Paddy Young, another top-ranking middie, and then have his man tackle the champion.

Castellani was simply too strong and too clever all the way. He started Laurent's nose bleeding in the first round and the Frenchman's face was streaming with crimson during at least half the fight.

A crowd of 4,686 paid $9,366 to see the nationally televised bout in Cleveland Arena. Referee Tony La Branch scored it 9-0-1, Judge Herb Williams 8-02 and Judge Charley Bill 8-2-0. Laurent, at 158½, had a half-pound weight edge.

Arlington Trips JVs By 14 to 6

The Smiths and Joneses of Arlington High's Jayvee football squad teamed up to whip the KHS Jayvees, 14-6, yesterday at the Dutchess county grid.

Cliff Smith, Arlington quarterback, completed two scoring passes to Bill Jones and the pair collaborated on two extra points on aerials to account for the Arlington output.

Arlington scored its first TD in the second quarter when Smith hit Jones from the 3 and the pair repeated for the conversion. That made it 7-0 at the half.

Neil Keyser romped 25 yards up the middle for Kingston's lone TD in the third period, but Arlington marched 70 yards with a 40-yard payoff pass by the Smith-Jones combination in the fourth quarter.

Million-Dollar Remodeling Job Is Underway on Busch Stadium

Hoople and Nussbaum Pick Poughkeepsie-Port Jervis

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
(Champion of Offense)

My word! How popular I am!

If this statement stuns you just a mite, let me hasten to explain that I am not just blowing my own horn. Zillions of my readers are doing it for me.

In other words, so many complaints have been pouring in concerning the variations between Dr. Cicero Zlobotny's system and the actual scores, that I have been constrained to make a change. Always remember that we Hooples have been disciples of change since the day of the Magna Carta!

I am scrapping Zlobotny in view of the crucial DUSO engagements head this weekend. I am again taking Dr. Etienne Nussbaum under my wing. Yes, gentle readers, we are once more applying his hypothesis of alphabetical averages as witnessed in alphabetical soup.

Harrumph! Now to the predictions in collaboration with the astiute Etienna, the many of many astounding upsets.

Picks the Blues

Nobody will beat Sam Kalloch's Blues until my good friend, Bill Burke, takes his marauding Maroons to Poughkeepsie on Nov. 14. Beating the crippled Middies of Middletown Saturday afternoon will be worse than robbing the poor boxes in church. By the precise calculations of the Nussbaum theory, the Blues will win 33 to 6! If not more. It all depends on how my friend Sam and his ace halfback, Johnson, are getting along that day.

The injury riddled Red and Black of Port Jervis has found a new spirit, my agents tell me and they should beat Newburgh's deflated Goldbacks by something like 13-0. But I must warn my good friend, Bill Burke, to beware of the glitter of the Goldbacks by Thanksgiving Day. They could be real tough.

And now before you make your weekly visit to crystal ball, gaze upon these startling predictions for the college football games this weekend.

Junior Riders In Many Events At Horse Show

Champions in four junior horsemanship divisions will be crowned on Nov. 7-8 in the 65th National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden. All contestants must be 18 or under.

A total of 113 young riders from 13 states have qualified for the four championship events, open only to those who have won similar competitions at recognized shows held prior to the National.

New York is represented by the most contestants with 41 and New Jersey is next with 34, both up from last year.

The Good Hands event in which riders are judged on their ability to handle a horse on the flat has drawn 25 juniors. Sixteen juniors will try for the AHSA saddle seat medal award and 18 for the hunter seat prize.

Aside from the equitation class, judged entirely on the ability of the rider, the 56th National, opening its eight-day run on Nov. 3, has drawn 139 entries in pony and junior hunter events, judged on the performance of the horse ridden by a junior exhibitor.

Baylor's Smith Lineman of Week

Waco, Tex., Oct. 29 (AP)—They swear big James Ray Smith is so modest that when he ambles across the campus at Baylor University only a handful of students know who he is.

But ask any of the players on the football teams of California, Miami, Arkansas, Vanderbilt or Texas A&M and they'll tell you—eloquently.

Smith, the 215-pound, 20-year-old junior who's a one-man wrecking crew on Baylor's unbeaten team, yesterday was named "Lineman of the Week" by the Associated Press for his magnificent play against Texas A&M last week.

Team Classed Third

It was the accuracy of his extra-point kicking—and all-around play—that gave the Bears a 14-13 victory and third place in the Associated Press national football rankings.

Smith grinned with pleasure when told of the honor, but promptly said he didn't deserve it.

"I don't believe it is quite fair to single out any one individual when it was necessary for every one of us to fight hard to win against a very fine team like Texas A&M," he said.

Everybody else around Baylor said it was not only fair, but it would have been a downright shame if he hadn't been selected.

Smith is averaging 55 minutes of play, handling the extra point kicking, and kicking off.

Finland is one of the most literate countries of the world says the National Geographic Society.

600 New Seats Due at Card's Park

St. Louis, Oct. 29 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, building for a National League pennant, are building from the ground up.

They're remodeling Busch Stadium—from top to bottom, from home plate to center field and from bullpen to bullpen.

Included in the face-lifting are new seats—measuring 21 inches across the beam as compared to the old 18 inch width—new dugouts, new player club houses and a new drainage system for the infield.

Also on tap in the million-dollar program—to be completed by opening day next spring—is a genuine garden in what once were the center field bleachers.

Present construction represents $650,000 of the over all cost. The balance was spent last season in giving the park a new paint job and on necessary structural repairs. The total cost is well over the $400,000-a-year maintenance estimate made by August A. Busch, Cardinal owner, when he bought the park last summer.

Took Over From Veeck

Sportsman's Park became Busch Stadium when Busch handed Bill Veeck and the late St. Louis Browns $850,000 and relieved them of ownership.

Heavy grading machinery, pipes, concrete chunks and a general junk yard view have turned the park into a wreck now. A 1,000-pound iron ball is hacking away at the upper deck in the greatest baseball breakup since Connie Mack dispensed with his million-dollar infield.

The upper deck will be extended to provide loges—six rounds of additional bax seats that will cost the fans $3 each. They replace a narrow row of chair seats that hugged the upper deck railing.

Field level boxes also will be extended into the foul territory stretching along the first and third base lines. Seats in the six rows will be $2.50 each, a quarter more than the old front line boxes.

33,853 Capacity

In all, 4,000 seats will be added. But the installation of the new, wider seats and more knee room between rows will allow only a 600-seat increase in capacity of 33,853.

The center field garden doesn't decrease the seating. Those seats were kept vacant to prevent a htting hazard provided by white-shirted bleacherites.

50 Club, Cedaraps Score Victories

Huyler Van Wagenen's scoring spree of 36 points for the Back Cedaraps established a new seasonal high mark for both classes of the YMCA Autumn Basketball League Wednesday night.

Van Wagenen, in eclipsing the former high held by Ron Brandt, dumped in 17 fields and a pair of foul shots.

Meanwhile, the 50 Club and Back's Cedaraps registered victories in the "B" League Wednesday night.

In the opener, the 50 Club turned back Accord by 60 to 40 while the Cigarmen, with Van Wagenen, turning on the steam, defeated the J & E Milk Bar by 81 to 52.

Culjak Nets 16

The 50 Club and Accord played evenly throughout the first half with The 50 Club holding a two-point advantage at the intermission. As soon as the second half started, the 50 Club began a scoring spree which netted them 21 points in the third quarter. From then on the game was never in doubt. The Accord cagers had trouble in the last period with their shooting and could only score six points. Tom Culjak topped all the scorers with 16 points. Bryon Lawrence of Accord scored 13 and Jim Woods of the 50 Club chipped in with 12.

In the second game, J & E Milk Bar started out by holding Back Cedaraps to a 14 to 14 first quarter tie. Backs then started finding the range with a 24-point second quarter. They kept up their scoring spree with 43 points in the second half. Bruce Hinkley and Ron Brandt were second in scoring for Backs with 11 points each. Bob Faurote with 22 and Curley Boscoe with 16 paced the losing Milk Bar.

Hawks Still Like Garden Hockey Dates

(By The Associated Press)

What the Chicago Black Hawks apparently need are more games at Madison Square Garden.

The Hawks, who won their last five starts on New York ice last season, scored their first victory of the National Hockey League new campaign last night, easily whipping the rangers, 6-1. The triumph came after seven Chicago defeats and one tie.

Wilber, Weishaupt Top Keglers With 244-634

Harry Wilber and Larry Weishaupt, a couple of "old pros," took over the leadership of local tenpin circles Wednesday night with the top single and series achievements in the Central Rec Major League.

Van Wagenen Posts 36 for YMCA High

50 Club, Cedaraps Score Victories

Huyler Van Wagenen's scoring spree of 36 points for the Back Cedaraps established a new seasonal high mark for both classes of the YMCA Autumn Basketball League Wednesday night.

Van Wagenen, in eclipsing the former high held by Ron Brandt, dumped in 17 fields and a pair of foul shots.

Meanwhile, the 50 Club and Buck's Cedaraps registered victories in the "B" League Wednesday night.

In the opener, the 50 Club turned back Accord by 60 to 40 while the Cigarmen, with Van Wagenen, turning on the steam, defeated the J & E Milk Bar by 81 to 52.

Culjak Nets 16

The 50 Club and Accord played evenly throughout the first half with The 50 Club holding a two-point advantage at the intermission. As soon as the second half started, the 50 Club began a scoring spree which netted them 21 points in the third quarter. From then on the game was never in doubt. The Accord cagers had trouble in the last period with their shooting and could only score six points. Tom Culjak topped all the scorers with 16 points. Bryon Lawrence of Accord scored 13 and Jim Woods of the 50 Club chipped in with 12.

In the second game, J & E Milk Bar started out by holding Back Cedaraps to a 14 to 14 first quarter tie. Backs then started finding the range with a 24-point second quarter. They kept up their scoring spree with 43 points in the second half. Bruce Hinkley and Ron Brandt were second in scoring for Backs with 11 points each. Bob Faurote with 22 and Curley Boscoe with 16 paced the losing Milk Bar.

Hawks Still Like Garden Hockey Dates

(By The Associated Press)

What the Chicago Black Hawks apparently need are more games at Madison Square Garden.

The Hawks, who won their last five starts on New York ice last season, scored their first victory of the National Hockey League new campaign last night, easily whipping the rangers, 6-1. The triumph came after seven Chicago defeats and one tie.

Bishop Is Jailed

Queens Village, N. Y., arrived in Cleveland, Tenn., Tuesday. There he "relieved" Milton as overseer of the Church of God of Prophecy. He then drove to the shrine, which he said had been made into "idolatry."

Swings His Sledge

While a crowd of about 100 watched, the bishop struck one of the concrete blocks two blows with a sledgehammer. Sheriff M. G. Crawford arrested him for destroying church property.

Taken to the Murphy jail, Tomlinson said he wanted to fast in jail for seven days. After an hour, he changed his mind and was released without bond. Trial was set for Nov. 9. He said before he left he still planned "to fast seven days."

Last September, Homer had a brush with the Cleveland police when he created a disturbance during a "prophecy" meeting. At that time police picked him up and carried him bodily from the meeting.

Last August, he announced he "had relieved" Bishop Oliver Mills of Red Bay, Ala. Mills said then that Tomlinson, who ran for president last year on the "Righteousness ticket," had been relieved because he said it was against the doctrine of the church to be in politics.

Only about five per cent of the 400,000 inhabitants of British Guiana are Europeans.

Bishop Is Jailed

Queens Village, N. Y., arrived in Cleveland, Tenn., Tuesday. There he "relieved" Milton as overseer of the Church of God of Prophecy. He then drove to the shrine, which he said had been made into "idolatry."

Swings His Sledge

While a crowd of about 100 watched, the bishop struck one of the concrete blocks two blows with a sledgehammer. Sheriff M. G. Crawford arrested him for destroying church property.

Taken to the Murphy jail, Tomlinson said he wanted to fast in jail for seven days. After an hour, he changed his mind and was released without bond. Trial was set for Nov. 9. He said before he left he still planned "to fast seven days."

Last September, Homer had a brush with the Cleveland police when he created a disturbance during a "prophecy" meeting. At that time police picked him up and carried him bodily from the meeting.

Last August, he announced he "had relieved" Bishop Oliver Mills of Red Bay, Ala. Mills said then that Tomlinson, who ran for president last year on the "Righteousness ticket," had been relieved because he said it was against the doctrine of the church to be in politics.

Only about five per cent of the 400,000 inhabitants of British Guiana are Europeans.

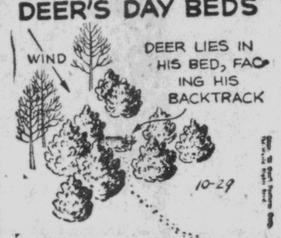
DEER'S DAY BEDS



WHEN DEER OR OTHER MEMBERS OF THE DEER FAMILY (CARIBOU, ELK, ETC.) LEAVE THEIR MORNING FEEDING GROUNDS TO REST FOR THE DAY THEY TRAVEL INTO THE WIND. THE BED'S LOCATION IS USUALLY SCREENED BY BRUSH OR TREES SO THAT THE DEER CAN SEE THROUGH TO WATCH HIS BACKTRACK FOR FOLLOWING ENEMIES. HIS KEEN NOSE SCENTS ANY DANGER IN THE WIND COMING FROM THE OPPOSITE DIRECTION. SO YOU MUST MOVE SLOWLY AND BE ALERT WHEN TRACKING 'EM DOWN!

TV Newsman Says Paper Is Here to Stay

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—To one TV news commentator, at least, the newspaper is here to stay.

The commentator, John K. M. McCaffrey, of the National Broadcasting Co., put it this way in opening the second annual Joseph Medill Patterson lecture series at Fordham University last night:

"You can tuck your newspaper under the arm and read it whenever you want."

TV must use a feature technique in reporting the news because the expense of being on the spot with mobile cameras is prohibitive, McCaffrey said.

Besides, he said, the commentator has only a limited amount of time on the air, while "in a newspaper you can spend as much time with any section of the newspaper as you wish."

Regional Forecasts

Northern New York—Cloudy and cool with occasional light rains today, high temperature in the 50s. Partly cloudy and cool tonight, with a few light showers possible. Low in the upper 30s or low 40s. Friday, sunny, moderately windy and cool. High in the 50s.

Western Mohawk area and south-central New York—occasional light rain and cool today, temperatures remaining in the 50s. Cloudy and cool tonight, low near 40. Friday, sunny, moderately windy and cool. High in the 50s.

Western New York and northern Finger Lakes to Lake Ontario—Cloudy with occasional light rain or drizzle today, partial clearing tonight, high temperature 50-55. Low tonight in the mid 30s. Tomorrow generally fair and cool. North to north-west winds 15-25 miles per hour today diminishing tonight and becoming westerly 10-20 miles per hour tomorrow.

East of Lake Ontario, Black river basin—Cloudy with occasional light rain and drizzle today ending tonight, high temperature 50-55. Low tonight in the mid 30s. Tomorrow generally fair and cool. North to north-west 15-25 miles per hour today becoming westerly 10-20 miles per hour tomorrow.
